WHAT'S WRONG WITH CAMBRIDGE?

THE DEAD HAND OF CONVENTION.

ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES NEED BRINGING UP-TO-DATE.

In a recent issue of the News and Chronicle (London) Mrs. J. B. S. Haldane, wife of the well-known professor of biology, gives her views about University life, laying the blame for undergraduate, excesses on senile methods and ideas of control. We quote as follows:-

A startling case last week focused public attention on Cambridge University.

I came to Cambridge in complete ignorance of the "type of social organisation in existence there; I discovered it gradually, and it filled me partly with amusement, partly with alarm. After four years I feel qualified to suggest the following explanation of its problems.

Cambridge University is overwhelmingly Conservative in politics and orthodox in religion. With few exceptions the men in authority are ignorant of and antagonistic to modern thought and modern activities of all but the most conventional kinds. They are extraordinarily long-lived. Dons of eighty and professors of ninety are by no means rare. At concerts in the Guildhall you may see white-haired old ladies in Victorian shawls and lace sitting row by row. The "old ladies" of Cambridge are by no means confined to the female sex.

The Tale of Drinking Young.

It is a quality of old age to dislike change and disturbance as such. In a society where the old and elderly are to some extent forced, in pursuit of their livings, to have some dealings with the very young, their prejudices become triple-barred. In order to understand, rather than to rule these very young men, they would have to make a tremendous mental effort to keep pace with the times, to feel sympathetically the general and individual problems of youth in our day. But most people over fifty find such a task impossible; well-paid, comfortably-off old dons consider it superfluous.

It is obvious that the ordinary young man of twenty-one or twenty-two does not go about with a loaded revolver in his pocket. The average young man of to-day wants as much amusement and as little responsibility as he can achieve. This is as true of the really intelligent, who get "firsts" in their tripos, as of those who do no work at all and get "ploughed." Young men at Cambridge, exactly like young men everywhere else, have to make fools of themselves up to a certain point. Most of them are not unwilling to work in moderation. But work or no work, they are determined to have their fun. That, after all, is human nature.

Treated Like Children.

Now how do the authorities cater for this quite justifiable desire? The Long Vacation term will shortly begin. During this period all undergraduates or graduates in residence must go into college. They are not allowed to live in lodgings. The Proctor does not patrol the streets. But everyone must be in college by 10 p.m. This means that during the finest period of the year, in a country where fine weather is rare enough, goodness knows, a lot of vigorous adult young men are commanded to be behind college walls almost before dark. All it means in practice, of course, is that they are driven to climb over the walls instead of walking in at the gates. Those who make such regulations are simply asking to have them violated.

I absolutely disagree with the demands I have seen made in the Press that college discipline should be tightened up. Anyone conversant with the problem knows that the only way to make a young man behave like a man and not a child is to treat him like a responsible adult. The moral problems of Oxford and Cambridge Universities simply do not exist at other English Universities where there is no college system.

If this University were run by men under forty instead of men mostly over sixty, I am almost certain that complete personal liberty with responsibility would be allowed, and would be very seldom abused.

Young Men of Great Possessions.

But there is another aspect to the Cambridge problem which is less pleasant, though no less significant, and that is the economic aspect. There is no doubt that at present a large number of people on whom a University education is completely wasted come up to Cambridge. The best of these are practically professional athletes; the worst, morose or degenerate. The standard of the entrance examination is so low that almost anyone not a complete idiot can pass in. And in Cambridge, no less than elsewhere, "money talks." A very rich young man, even just a rich young man, can pretty well achieve - let us not use the harsh word buy - the position he wants. It is almost generally agreed that these rich wasters should not be encouraged. Yet they are, and will continue to be, encouraged. The reason is quite simple.

Money Must Be Had.

As the new Chancellor, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, recently said in his inaugural speech in the Senate House, the University is badly in need of money. The money is for the most part well spent. It is spent on scientific research, for example, that ranks amongst the highest in the whole world. Cambridge physics and Cambridge biology are world-famous. Scientific men of genius such as Sir J. J. Thompson, Sir Ernest Rutherford, Sir Frederick Hopkins, make the name of Cambridge famous in the scientific circles of every civilised country.

But well-equipped modern laboratories swallow enormous sums. These sums have to be got from somewhere. If Cambridge were to refuse to admit rich men and the sons of rich men, where would the money come from? What would become of all those fat legacies that now so pleasantly swell University and College coffers? They would undoubtedly go elsewhere. In matters financial individual dons are one and all simple-minded, high-principled men. They would not dream of cadging to serve their own ends. The fact that they chose academic rather than business or political careers clearly testifies to their contempt for personal enrichment. But the enrichment of their organisation is another matter entirely. That is why the sons of rich men are welcome to Cambridge - more so than the sons of poor men, unless one or two of the latter happen to be of such outstanding intellectual ability that some other place will get the benefit of their remarkable talents unless Cambridge gets them first.

The Freezing Senile Hand.

Oxford and Cambridge Universities are repositories of obsolete ideas, obsolete morals, obsolete conventions. They enshrine and hug traditions, largely ecclesiastical and aristocratic, left over from the country's past. By encouraging science, those in authority convince themselves that they are being very modern and up-to-date. Apart from the scientists, most of the dons strike one as physically and mentally lazy men who worship comfort and antiquity: old houses, old books, old furniture, old wines. It is this cult of old age, old human beings, old ideas, and old things, which is segregating these Universities more and more from the young, healthy vigorous life of our times, and which quite often brings despair and contempt into the hearts of the thinking young men - of whom there are more than might be supposed - brought into contact with it.

SECRET "DOPE" FOR RACEHORSES.

VANISHING DRUG REVELATION.

A new drug, the presence of which is extraordinarily difficult to detect, is being used for the "doping" of racehorses in England.

Dr. Richard William Starkie, formerly Metropolitan Police surgeon, and a prominent practitioner among racing and theatrical people in London made this sensational statement in an interview.

Inside information concerning the illicit drug traffic in Britain, obtained from Dr. Starkie, has been published as a warning to the authorities. Dr. Starkie has just served a punishment of five months in prison for an offence against the dangerous drug regulations. It was contended that Dr. Starkie supplied prescriptions for heroin to a patient when he was not authorised to do so.

Gingering Them Up.

"Cocaine has been used," said Dr. Starkie, "to ginger up racehorses fairly frequently—much more frequently than the stewards of race meetings imagine."

"A horse receiving a shot of cocaine just before a race shows dilated eye pupils, dilated nostrils, and a crimson redness of the nostrils. An examination of the horse's saliva quickly reveals what has happened."

"It is not generally known, however, that there is now a drug—not classed as a dangerous drug, but allied to cocaine—which is far better as 'gee up' stuff than cocaine. With this drug none of the symptoms of cocaine are manifest."

"It takes longer to act than cocaine, and can be timed accurately. Cocaine to be effective with a horse has to be administered immediately before a race, which is always difficult and dangerous."

Adding To Speed.

"The new drug can be given half an hour before a race in perfect freedom from detection. There is only one test that will show its use, and that an extraordinarily difficult one with a horse."

"Tests that have been carried out prove that the drug adds several lengths to the speed of a horse over a mile."

"I know that this drug has been and is being used in some of the most important races in England and abroad."

"Fortunately, the use of the drug is known only to a limited circle of racing people, but it is not difficult to obtain."

A GERMAN "MONTE CARLO"?

THE MAYOR'S NEW PLANS FOR WIESBADEN.

A plan to turn Wiesbaden into what is somewhat exaggeratedly termed "a German Monte Carlo" has been made in all seriousness by its present Mayor, Wiesbaden needs financial help badly, and the City Fathers are all the more crushed by the knowledge, in so far as they are innocent of all the wrongdoing laid at the door of other German cities now in difficulties. Wiesbaden has indulged in no expensive building nor speculated in risky undertakings. It is argued that the harm done to the town by the occupation in keeping away German tourists and preventing the wealthy retired from all over the country from settling in what used to be their favoured spot, is only one of the many evils that have befallen it. The loss of the rich Russian who used to come annually and spend many months has not been counter-balanced by the advent of the American and the growing interest of the Dutch tourist. They do not stop long enough.

German tourist traffic authorities state that only a very definite attraction in the days of motoring can hold any traveller not merely in search of health at all longer than the Wiesbaden plan. The lure of the gaming table has proved its worth in Zoppot, the seaside suburb of Danzig, in Cannes, San Remo and even in puritan Switzerland, and that there seems no reason why Germany should not avail herself of similar means of taxation to help both the city and the national exchequer.

GANDHI—"THE GREATEST CHRISTIAN."

CLERGYMAN'S TRIBUTE.

The Rev. A. D. Belden, in his sermon at Whitefield's Central Mission Church, Tottenham Court Road, London, last month, said that in spite of occasional scenes of violence, almost inevitable under the present repressive laws and administration, and so intimately dependent upon the wisdom and humanity or otherwise of local authorities, Gandhi's movement of civil disobedience had made and was making steady and successful progress. Here was a phenomenon which should make the Christian churches in Great Britain stand and gaze, and command their awe and reverence.

With the pitiful example of Ireland looming up from our recent history, said Mr. Belden, with the sheer impossibility of holding India's millions down by force, it would seem to be for once a perfect coincidence of Christian duty and sound Imperial politics to give India as rapidly as possible full self-government within the security provided by the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Gandhi was the greatest Christian at present on the earth, although in his humility he disclaimed the name, and that man had been put, regrettably, into prison by the most Christian Power, professedly, in the world. Would it not be more sensible to have him at an immediate round-table conference rather than in prison, instead of waiting until October 20, the suggested date for the round-table conference?

HALF-A-MINUTE FROM DEATH.

DRAMATIC FIGHT FOR A DIVER'S LIFE.

A diver was fighting for his life in Folkestone Harbour recently while passengers were boarding the morning steamer for Boulogne, unconscious of the drama being enacted a few yards away. The man's life was saved with only thirty seconds to spare.

The driver, Mr. John Rout, who was in charge of diving operations in the harbour, decided to go down on the west side to try to locate parts of a crane which had fallen into the sea.

Call for Doctor.

He had been down about eight minutes when the air passage became obstructed, and he lost consciousness.

The two men in the diver's boat, receiving no answer to their signals with the life-line, pulled the diver up by a rope and shouted for a doctor.

Five ambulance men were rushed to the spot while the diver, in his heavy suit, was rowed to the beach. They applied artificial respiration for some time before he recovered sufficiently to be taken home in an ambulance.

One of the ambulance men afterwards said: "Another half a minute and he would have been dead."

GAOL FOR AN EX-DEAN.

CAREER OF A FORMER ARMY CHAPLAIN.

A Clergyman's remarkable career as a priest, Naval volunteer, and Royal Air Force officer, was revealed at Southport police court last month, when Henry F. Mercer, aged fifty-eight, an ex-Dean of Perth, Western Australia, was sentenced to six months' hard labour on charges of false pretences and obtaining credit by fraud.

Other cases were taken into consideration.

Mr. Compton Carr, representing Mercer, said that Mercer was ordained in 1885. He held three curacies in the east of London, and afterwards became Metropolitan Secretary to the Church Army, an office he held more than nine years.

He became vicar of Hawthorne, Melbourne, in 1905, and in 1912 was appointed to the Deanery of Perth, Western Australia, an office he occupied for five years. When war broke out he offered his services, and became Chaplain to the Forces, acting as such for a little over two years.

He then joined the combatant forces, and became a lieutenant in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. Afterwards he became a chaplain of the Royal Air Force and continued as such until 1919.

CORSICAN BANDIT'S EXECUTION.

1,800 TROOPS GUARD PRISON GATES.

Crowds assembled early one morning last month to witness the execution of the Corsican, Grifaut, the most formidable bandit that Marseilles has ever known.

He was the chief of a band of apaches who for years caused periods of terrorism. The exploit for which he was executed was committed in broad daylight, between the Stock Exchange and the Central Post Office, and but 100 yards from the Cannebiere, the chief street of Marseilles.

There Grifaut and his friends attacked and killed a bank messenger and robbed him of £3,800.

All the bandits were arrested, but Grifaut only was sentenced to death.

A few days ago his aged mother came from her village in Corsica to Paris to beg President Doumergue to pardon her son—but the crime was too serious.

A force of 1,800 troops, police and gendarmes kept order this morning in front of the prison, outside whose entrance the execution took place.

Many spectators had taken up positions during the night in trees in order to see the grim spectacle.

"Roots of houses round about were crowded long before dawn. The fire brigade was called out to dislodge the people from the trees by turning jets of water on them."

Later the roofs were also cleared. While M. Diebler, the chief executioner, was superintending the erection of the guillotine, the police had several scuffles with the crowd.

At dawn Grifaut was aroused from a sound sleep in his cell by the Public Prosecutor.

Just before he was placed on the guillotine, Grifaut shouted in a loud voice: "Good-bye, Fifa. Death to the police."

Fifa is his handsome sweetheart, and one of his band who is in prison.

A few seconds afterwards the knife fell.

The crowd then burst the police and military cordon and surged round the guillotine. It was only with great difficulty that it was driven back and dispersed.

CIVIL PILOTS FOR SCHNEIDER RACE.

Britain may yet win the Schneider Trophy seaplane contest next year, and thus obtain for all time the greatest speed trophy of the world.

After winning the contest twice in succession, the Air Ministry decided not to compete in the 1931 race.

It was announced recently however, that the Air Ministry is willing to loan the high speed racing craft, which roared to victory at 328 miles an hour last year, to any responsible body who wishes to enter them for the 1931 contest.

The only stipulations are that those responsible for entering the craft shall provide their own pilots and insure the machines.

Special Training.

To find pilots for the high speed craft will be the greatest difficulty.

Flying at 400 m.p.h. is a highly specialised job requiring months of strict training. The Service pilots who are now at Felixstowe with the High Speed Flight of the R.A.F. have been barred from the contest, so the duty will devolve on commercial pilots.

Normal test pilots seldom find opportunities of flying at speeds greater than 250 m.p.h., and as it is quite likely that the Schneider Trophy craft will reach 400 m.p.h., it will mean men being specially trained for the work.

Makers to Confer.

An expert said that given proper weather conditions, so that the pilots could get in a few hours' flying each day, they should become accustomed to handling the ultra-high speed machines in three or four months.

When informed a representative of the Napier Aero-Engine Company of the Air Ministry's decision said it was probable that his company would confer with the Gloster company, with a view to sharing the Gloster-Napier racing seaplane built for last year's contest, and preparing the machines for even higher speeds next year.

Britain won the last two Schneider Trophy contests. If she wins the third, which will take place over British waters, the Trophy, presented in 1913 by Jacques Schneider, will become the absolute property of Britain.

HUMOUR: ANCIENT AND MODERN.

Mother (to Harold, who has just been presented with a chocolate biscuit by amiable grocer): "What do you say, Harold?"

Harold: "I've got two brothers at home."

Barber (having sold bottle of hair oil to customer): "Excuse me, sir, do you happen to play billiards?"

Customer: "Yes, why?"

Barber: "Then I must warn you, sir, after using this lotion to be sure and wash your hands before so much as touching a billiard ball."

A coloured gentleman, sentenced to the penitentiary, was visited by a sympathetic friend.

"Ben," said the friend, "am I true dat you all is sentenced for life?"

"No," said Ben, "jes' fum now on."

Modern Husband (in kitchen): "Where's the egg beater?"

Modern Wife (also in kitchen): "I dunno, Harry. I'm a stranger here myself."

"She plays well, but is she a thorough musician?"

"Well, yes! Why, she times the eggs with a metronome."

Customer (suspiciously): "How is the hash made here?"

Waiter: "Made, sir? Ash ain't made—it just accumulates!"

"Do things usually turn out as you expect them to?"

"Yes, with the exception of the car ahead of me."

"Your Honor," said the witness, "you may take my statement as being absolutely correct. I have been wedded to truth since my childhood."

"Quite possible," said the Judge, "but what the court wants to know is, how long have you been a widower?"

Ah ha! At last we've found out what the new long dresses the girls are wearing remind us of. For days we've struggled to remember; every time we saw a girl in the new style dresses or saw pictures of the latest thing from Paris, we knew it reminded us of something, but we couldn't say what.

But yesterday we saw some girls in the new long dresses and it flashed on us at once. They reminded us of Junior, aged 5, wearing his papa's overcoat.

"I've an invention at last that will mean a fortune!"

"What is it this time?"

"Why, it's an extra key for a typewriter. When you don't know how to spell a word you hit that key, and it makes a blur that might be an 'e,' an 'a,' or almost anything else you like."

I'm quite a fanatic on language grammar, but sometimes I like to be punny. Now, see if I'm right: If you're beaten in fight, you're worsted as well—isn't it funny?

The famous tragedian rang up a well-known critic.

"Can you hear?"

"Yes."

"Valentine Montmorency is indisposed. I am going to play his part to-night."

"Many thanks for the warning," said the critic, and hung up.

Two negroes were sent to the market to buy a live rabbit. After making their purchase, and while on their way to make the delivery, the rabbit scampered away. The one who had been carrying the animal sat down and shook with laughter.

His companion said, "What you all laughin' at?"

"Look at dat ol' rabbit run de wrong way! Ah got de address in mah pocket."

LOLA TRACKS CROOKS TO CUBA.

In the Fox Movietone production "The Girl from Havana," now showing at the Queen's Theatre, the beautiful and talented Lola Lane goes through the entire picture "under false pretences."

On board a steamship bound for Havana from Los Angeles, Miss Lane is believed to be a member of a theatrical company, bound for Balboa.

In reality she is a clever female detective in the employ of an international association of jewellers, and her real mission is to solve a mysterious theft of jewels, with the members of the gang participating in the theft on the same boat. How she does it and entangles herself in a romance with one of the crooks forms the basis of an intriguing and interesting plot.

A Highly-trained Singer in "Fox Follies."

David Percy, who is said to register a distinct personal hit in the William Fox Movietone "Follies of 1929," used literally to "sing for his supper" in Boston, much to the discomfort of his New England family.

There was no necessity for Percy to hang about the Russian Grill, but he liked to sing and manager and patrons encouraged him, so he tossed his Puritan inhibitions overboard. Then the small boy would stagger home like a stuffed turkey from the many good things his songs brought him to eat. Percy was born in Arlington, Mass., a suburb of Boston, on May 4, 1902. His father was David Thomas Percy, M.D., and his mother, the former Maude Alm, was a concert pianist well-known in America and Europe. His brother, George Percy, was a Harvard athlete.

Young Percy gave up college to study voice-production with Emma Eames. Her husband, Emilio De Gozgo, the baritone, encouraged young Percy, saying he had perhaps the most beautiful baritone voice in America at that time. During his student days he frequently appeared in amateur theatricals, his voice causing a popular demand for his services.

"Roadhouse Nights."

What is believed to be a memory-best record of the entertainment world has been established by Clayton, Jackson and Durante, the trio of comedians who graduated from New York's after-theatre clubs to the talking screen in the "Roadhouse Nights," comedy-thriller which is now showing at the Central Theatre.

The members of the trio boast of a repertoire of 54 songs. Every song has many verses, and multiple variations of the chorus!

All but two of the songs were written by the singing comics themselves, with Jimmie Durante, their leader, officiating in the dual rôle of composer and lyricist.

In "Roadhouse Nights" they sing "Everything Is On the Up and Up," "Hello, Everybody, Folks," and "Everybody Wants My Girl."

The trio share honours in the production with Helen Morgan, Charles Ruggles and Fred Kohler. The story is an original one by Ben Hecht, and was directed at the Paramount Long Island studio by Hobart Henley, who made "The Lady Lies."

"A Reno Divorce" at the Majestic.

May McAvoy in "A Reno Divorce" is now showing at the Majestic Theatre, Kowloon. It is a brilliant modern comedy drama written and directed by Ralph Graves, who also plays the leading romantic rôle. May McAvoy plays the part of a thrill-seeking young society girl. Her speeding car knocks down the young man who proves to be her hero. Menace appears in the form of a divorced couple, a drunken driver, a wheel of chance, counter-schemes, and complications galore sweeping the story to a great climax. In the cast are Hedda Hopper, Robert Ober, William Demarest and Anders Davis. While ultra-modern, "A Reno Divorce" is intensely human. It is a play to see and to remember.

"DEAD" MAN WHO RETURNED.

10 YEARS' AFTER HIS "BURIAL."

An inquest was held at Stepney recently on a man who made a dramatic return from abroad more than ten years after he was supposed to have been dead. The man, Henry Seymour Mahon, aged 67, of Burdett Road, Mile End, was separated from his wife and daughter twenty-five years ago. He disappeared.

About five years later, a sister informed the coroner, a body was found at Leytonstone, and at the inquest then held Mahon's wife swore that it was the body of her husband. A burial service was performed. Seven years ago, the sister went on, "I heard a knock at the door. On opening it I received a great shock when I found that it was my brother whom I thought to be dead."

NEW WONDERS OF SCIENCE.

WATER LIGHTED UP BY A MINERAL.

The world's latest scientific wonders were on show in London last month at the Royal Society conference at Burlington House, including:—

A marvellous wireless receiver.
A radio lighthouse.
A musical smoke machine, and
A mineral that gives out light in water.

The wireless receiver was a tiny instrument which receives signals on the extraordinarily short wave-length of a metre and a half.

A wireless direction-finding station which has been erected at Orfordness for experiments was on view and working. From its signals ships and aircraft can determine their position.

A ship's wireless set picks up the wireless dots and dashes. No direction finding receiver is required;
only an ordinary receiver, a stop-watch and an elementary knowledge of compass points.

Great interest was taken in a number of long glass tubes containing tiny lead pellets.

These transformed certain sounds into visual shapes, and there was an illuminated frame in which smoke formed designs when notes were struck.

A mineral called zinc-blende aroused great interest. It was found in South-West Africa, and when struck or rubbed, produces a bright light.

It is thought this may eventually solve a great scientific problem—the production of light without heat. Even under water the mineral produces the same illuminating glow when rubbed.

Several particles of zinc-blende were placed in a bottle of water. When the bottle was slightly shaken a bright glow came from the mineral.

Sergeant Maurice James Carter, of the Artists Rifles, won not only the Army championship but also the inter-Services championship in the bayonet fighting competition at the Royal Tournament at Olympia.
No member of the Territorial Force has ever previously defeated the champions of the three Regular Services in a similar contest. His skill with the bayonet was described officially as "magnificent."

TRAGEDY OF A "CHAIN LETTER."

WORRIED WIDOW'S SUICIDE.

Mrs. Charlotte Durrant Castle, aged forty-nine, widow of a master tailor, was found dead from gas poisoning at her home in Jermyn-street, S.W., a few days after she received a "chain letter."

"I daresay that this ridiculous letter worried her at a time when she could not stand any worry," said Mr. Ingleby Oddie, the coroner, "and she took her life."

A verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind" was recorded.

Mrs. Castle's husband died two years ago, after being ill for twenty years. She had been struggling to carry on his business and to pay off her creditors. Her business did not prosper, and she was unable to meet their demands.

Brother's Illness.

Added to the death of her husband came the news that a brother who was ill was not expected to live.

Mr. Sidney Jones, a member of a firm of accountants, said that the "chain letter" would have a damaging effect on a woman like Mrs.
Castle. He himself had received one like it that morning.

The coroner said that the "chain letter" read:—

Flanders Chain of Good Luck.
This was sent to me and I send it to you within twenty-four hours so that the chain will not be broken.

Make three copies and send to people whom you know to wish good-luck.

This chain was started by an officer. It goes round the world three times. Do not stop.

On the four day after receiving it good luck will befall you."

Start of the "Chain."

The letter added that if she kept the letter she would have had luck,
and that chain was started on January 20, 1920.

Mrs. Castle had left a letter addressed to the woman who did her daily work. It contained the quotation:—

Laugh and the world laughs
with you.
Weep and you weep alone.
And the words, "Oh, my head, it is throbbing to-night."

SIXPENCE A MILE PLANES.

TWO-SEATER TOYS FOR £400 A YEAR.

It costs just about 6d. a mile to fly your own aeroplane.

This figure, which includes depreciation, "garaging," running costs and maintenance, is given by Mr. R. L. Preston in his book,
"How to Become an Air Pilot."

Mr. Preston computes that an average light two-seater aeroplane, privately owned, costs £400 per year, allowing for 150 hours in the air.

As the average cruising speed of modern light aircraft is around 85-100 miles an hour, up to 15,000 miles can be covered in this flying time.

Quite a large percentage of this expenditure is paid for insurance, which can vary between £70 and £100 a year.

The insurance is not, as in the case of cars, governed by the size of the machine, but more by the personal characteristics and capabilities of the pilot.

Teaching by Post!

A progressive college in America is said to have inaugurated a system of teaching its students by correspondence how to fly.

England, apparently, has not yet reached such a state, for although the title of Mr. Preston's book sounds somewhat alarming, no attempt is made to initiate the beginner in the mysteries of flight.

Rather does the book explain how the embryo pilot should set about learning.

POLICE METHODS.

SIR WYNDHAM CHILDS
THINKS ALL IS FAIR.

"IMPOSSIBLE" RULES.

In his book "Episodes and Reflections," published recently, Major General Sir Wyndham Childs, who was Assistant Commissioner at Scotland Yard for eight years, expresses, in regard to the police scandals which occurred towards the end of his term of service, the opinion that "the wave of popular feeling" which arose against the Metropolitan Police was "primarily due to the Press and their insatiable lust for news and copy, and after that to the desire experienced by back-benchers of the House of Commons to achieve some form of notoriety which hitherto they had failed to secure." Several notorious "cases," he proceeds, "occurred in which persons of position were arrested by the police in Hyde Park. These were taken up with zest by the Press, although, looked at from an impartial point of view, there was nothing out of the normal about them."

Sir Wyndham deals at length with the position of the police in these affairs, and, commenting upon the findings of the Royal Commission, he says that the officers of the Criminal Investigation Department came to the conclusion "that the detection of crime in the future would be almost impossible if the rules were accepted. 'I don't think myself,' he adds, 'that the crime game can be played according to rule. My own conviction is that a police officer is entitled to use any and every subterfuge to gain evidence.'"

The Gutteridge Murder.

In other chapters the author deals with the part he played in the solving of the murder of Police Constable Gutteridge, and how his interest in the case was first aroused by the curious elevations on the base of the cartridge; the Arcos Raid, the attempt to poison the Commissioner of Police (Sir William Horwood), and the Zinovieff letter. About the latter he observes: "I am in the happy position of having no knowledge whatsoever on the subject of the Zinovieff letter, so I can conclude by giving it as my opinion that if Mr. Zinovieff sent it, he was, in colloquial language, a blithering idiot."

Communism is the author's pet aversion, and he complains that he has "never been able to comprehend why the successive Governments I served always refused to strike one overwhelming and final blow against the Communist organisation."

Referring to his army career, Sir Wyndham recalls the Tonypandy riots, and confesses that the months he spent there "had the effect of leaving me in a state of complete amazement that any human being could be a collier. The Rhondda Valley and the river, which 50 years ago, I believe, was a first-class salmon river, were the nearest approach to hell I ever want to see."

Of the Armistice case, Sir Wyndham says, "Unlike the majority of soldiers, I found myself unable to support the action of General Dyer."

Mr. Lloyd George Escapes.

The book contains several amusing anecdotes. The author recalls how at the War Office "there is a well-known file relating to the complaints of a certain officer in regard to his treatment, that has to be moved about on a trolley, as it is too cumbersome to be carried."

On one occasion at Scotland Yard he required a microscope, and discovered that the only microscope in the possession of the Criminal Investigation Department "was worth about 2s. 6d."

Sir Wyndham tells of a period during the Boer War when he was a participant in an arrangement at Liskeard, in Cornwall, to duck Mr. Lloyd George in a cattle trough. "Everything worked according to plan," says Sir Wyndham. "The flag went up and the lights went out. Then we went for the platform. Mr. Lloyd George disappeared through the door leading to the platform, but Miss Hobbhouse stood guard over the door, so naturally there was nothing more to be done."

A new telephone cable is to be laid between Glasgow and Ayr with an extension to Girvan to Stranraer. This extension is intended to provide for an improved service to the north of Ireland, and a further development in transatlantic telephony is likely to be linked up with this new cable.

STOLEN DYNAMITE.

CONSTRUCTION COMPANY FINED.

The Hong Kong Excavation Pile Driving and Construction Company were yesterday fined $25 for failing to employ proper watchmen to watch their dynamite magazine this being a breach of the dynamite storing license granted to them.

Dealing with the facts of the case, it was stated that the Police, in the case of dynamite magazines, had first to be satisfied that the place where it was proposed to store the dynamite was a suitable one, and then they required the applicant to submit for their approval two watchmen to guard the magazine.

The defendant company dismissed their sub-contractor on May 23, and the latter took away with him 80 of his men, including two watchmen. No new watchmen were put in their places. During the night of June 7 and 8 the dynamite was stolen.

A report was made to the Police and investigations were set on foot, and it was discovered then that there were no watchmen at the magazine and accordingly the summons was taken out.

Mr. E. D. Shank of the defendant company explained that the old sub-contractor was dismissed because he was not making satisfactory progress with the work on hand. New contractors have been appointed but in the interval the theft had taken place.

It was stated that the Police in Aberdeen are searching the hills in the belief that the dynamite is buried there.

BAND CONCERT AT KOWLOON.

MUSICAL TREAT TO-MORROW.

The arrangements for the third public band concert, to be held to-morrow night at the Kowloon Football Club, are practically the same as those on the previous occasion.

It should, however, be noted that this time the performance will be given by the Band of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. This is the Regimental Band which, under the baton of Mr. Beat, played with so much acceptance at the opening concert. It may be recalled that, under his predecessor, Mr. Rickett, who composed the famous Colonel Bogey March, the band of the 93rd Highlanders reached a very high standard of excellence and was widely famed.

The Kowloon Residents' Association, which has undertaken the organisation of the series of band concerts, informs us that the demand for the 50-cent chairs was such as to justify the supply of a greater number of these chairs. One great advantage is that they can be booked beforehand at Anderson's music store, and reserved for the evening.

The refreshment bar and tables, prepared on the tennis courts, adjoining the Club, were taken advantage of by many, and it is expected that, as this feature becomes better known, it will be still more popular.

Programme with explanatory notes will be on sale as before. There is no doubt as to the excellence of the musical fare which will be provided: the only uncertainty is the weather. It is a treacherous season and all that can be said is that, in the event of the rain persisting or the ground being too sodden, the concert will be postponed until the following Wednesday, and seats booked beforehand may be either carried forward or the money refunded.

A protest against the publication of certain war books was made by ex-Servicemen at the conference of the British Legion at Cardiff, Wood Green, N., and Southgate, N., branches moved a resolution condemning books in which the author did not draw upon actual facts and personal experiences, while the view was also expressed that, out of respect to the dead and maimed soldiers, the war should in no circumstances be used as a medium for works of fiction. North Hadden, who further wished the council to counter insidious propaganda contained in books which slandered the character and belittled the principles for which Great Britain entered the war. The first resolution was adopted.

FIRE AT UN LONG MARKET.

DAMAGE TO BUILDINGS AND CONTENTS.

Considerable damage to buildings and their contents is reported to have resulted from a fire in the Un Long Market, New Territories, yesterday.

The first news of the occurrence was contained in a telephone message received at 2.10 p.m. from the Au Tau Police Station, calling for assistance from the Fire Brigade.

No. 7 appliance was promptly despatched from Kowloon and succeeded in getting the fire under control after some arduous work.

Two buildings and their contents were severely damaged. The two upper floors were used as dwellings and the ground floors as shops.

The appliance returned to the station at a late hour in the evening.

SINGAPORE OPIUM CASE.

HEAVY BAIL FOR EUROPEAN.

"LOT OF MONEY BEHIND ACCUSED."

An echo of the trial and conviction of C. P. McCully, an officer of the Singapore Preventive Service, and a Malay named Ahmat bin Haji Ibrahim on charges of being in possession of a large quantity of contraband chandu, was heard in Singapore last week. An application for bail was made to the Criminal District Judge, Mr. C. Wilson, in view of the appeal which is being made.

When a similar application was made in the morning immediately after the conviction of the accused, his Honour said that in view of the facts of the case he was not prepared to allow bail.

Appearing on behalf of the accused, Mr. F. H. Collier, said that they were appealing against the conviction and asked for bail to be fixed.

"If there is any reason why bail should be given I will listen," his Honour said. "My feeling is that there is a lot of money behind McCully and the others, and in such cases small men do not do it."

Mr. R. L. L. Braddell (interposing): "Small fees nowadays, Sir. Asked if he had anything to say regarding the question of bail, Mr. I. C. Macmillan, Head of the Singapore Preventive Service, said that the matter was now entirely out of his hands."

His Honour: $10,000 for McCully and $1,000 for Ahmat.

Mr. Collier said that $10,000 bail in the case of McCully was excessive. McCully, Counsel said, was a European and it was not likely that he would abscond to some obscure part of the world.

"It is well-known that this sort of thing is backed by a wealthy gang and if anybody is caught they will put up the money and pay," his Honour remarked.

Bail in the amounts named was fixed.

The second steward on the Cromer, a Hylan, who was charged with importing contraband of chandu into Singapore, was found guilty and fined $5,000, in default two years' rigorous imprisonment.

SINGAPORE NAVAL BASE RIOT.

CORONER RETURNS OPEN VERDICT.

"Culpable homicide not amounting to murder against persons unknown," was the finding returned by Mr. J. G. Barrett, the Singapore Coroner, last week at the conclusion of the inquiry into the death of a Chinese during a riot between Indian and Chinese labourers on May 29 last at the Naval Base, Seletar.

Medical evidence showed that the man was admitted into the Tan Tock Seng Hospital, on the afternoon of May 29 and died a few hours later.

The deceased, who was a carpenter, was stated to have had an argument with an Indian overseer which led to a free fight between the Chinese and Indians. When the outbreak was got under control the deceased was found on the ground mortally wounded.

Twenty-three Indians and four Chinese, who were arrested at the time of the affray, have been remanded on a charge of rioting.

After recording the evidence of several witnesses the Coroner found that the fight lasted about fifteen minutes. The evidence, Mr. Barrett said, was conflicting, but he thought the Chinese were the aggressors. It was difficult to say who actually struck the blow that caused the death of the deceased.

SIR C. CLEMENTI TO FLY TO JAVA.

DUTCH ENTHUSIASM FOR FORTHCOMING VISIT.

Sir Cecil Clementi, Governor of the Straits Settlements, will visit Java in August, making the journey by aeroplane.

According to the Amsterdam newspaper Algemeen Handelsblad, Sir Cecil will leave the Straits on August 27.

The newspaper is enthusiastic concerning the forthcoming visit, and says that the visit of Sir Cecil will be of great help to the Dutch East Indian Government, and will contribute towards the more systematic tackling of Communism, one of the East's most serious problems.

TO CONFESS OR NOT.

CHINESE SAYS IT COMES TO THE SAME THING.

UNDESIRABLE'S FONDNESS FOR HONG KONG.

The record of a young Chinese who made thieving a profession and used his spare time out of prison to carry on his nefarious calling was referred to at the Criminal Sessions yesterday when the man had to answer to a charge of disobeying the Banishment Ordinance.

Before proceeding with this charge, the accused was placed on trial for theft of clothing from a woman living at Aberdeen.

Accused pleaded guilty to the charge, but since he had denied the theft in the lower Court, the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice Wood) allowed the old plea to stand and directed the trial to proceed.

Outlining the Crown case, Mr. Somerset Fitzroy explained that the complainant woke up at about 3 a.m. on July 3 to see a man in her cubicle. She raised an alarm, whereupon the intruder jumped out of a window, but he was arrested shortly afterwards with the stolen articles near him.

A witness called stated that he was on a visit to a constable friend that night. The latter was called away to Apichau, and at his request witness volunteered to patrol the district. While he was doing so he heard police whistles and came upon the accused, who had been caught by another man, a blacksmith.

Speaking from the dock, accused admitted that he was a bad man and had been convicted several times previously. He said that having violated the law before, to confess or not to confess would amount to the same thing.

After a brief retirement, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty on that count.

Banishment's Perambulations.

In the afternoon, the accused, Ho Yan, admitted that he was also known as Cheung Fat. He pleaded guilty to the charge of returning from banishment, adding that he had nothing to say.

Mr. Fitzroy recalled many convictions for burglary and larceny since September, 1925. The Crown Attorney said that the accused was first banished on August 6, 1926, for ten years. The man returned in January of the following year, served twelve months in prison, and was re-banished. He was back again on May 31, 1928, and was given twelve months' imprisonment for larceny, and a similar term for returning to the Colony. On January 25, 1929, accused was banished for life, but he came back again in June to get twelve months' imprisonment. The last time he was sent out of the Colony was on April 19 this year.

His Lordship passed sentence of two years' imprisonment with hard labour.

Looking for His Aunt!

In another trial where the accused was charged with theft of a sum of money at a boarding house and also for returning to the Colony during his period of banishment, the police produced a long string of convictions dating back to 1924.

Asked to explain his presence in the Colony on this occasion, accused said that he came back to look for an aunt. While passing the Wing Lok boarding house, he saw the door open. The opportunity was very tempting, so he entered and helped himself to the property. He did this with the intention of returning to the country and not with any idea of giving trouble to the authorities.

Sentences of six months' imprisonment on the larceny charge and three years for returning from banishment were passed, the sentences to run concurrently.

CHOPPER ATTACK.

ASSAULT FOLLOWS QUARREL.

A Chinese coolie was brought before Mr. J. S. Whyte-Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday on a charge of attacking a man with a chopper.

Sergeant Slater told his Worship that both complainant and defendant were employed by Messrs. (Continued of foot of next column.)

BRUTAL ATTACK ON A WOMAN.

CHINESE GETS HEAVY SENTENCE.

SEVEN YEARS AND 21 STROKES.

At the Criminal Sessions yesterday, before Mr. Justice Wood, a plea of guilty was tendered by Ho Yung, when he was charged with wounding and causing grievous bodily harm to a woman named Yim Chi. (The only excuse the accused was able to offer was that the woman owed him money, and he went to her house to ask for it. The woman refused to pay him, and whilst he was trying to take her to the police station, she struck him.)

Asked to give the facts of the case, Mr. Somerset Fitzroy said that the accused went to the woman's house at 118, Tainan Street, on May 12. Other people were living in the house, but except for two women, they were all out. These he sent out on a wild goose chase to collect money from people, and then proceeded to assault the woman with a chopper, cutting her about the body and head, apparently with the object of robbing her.

The woman was ill at the time, and he asked her to hand over her rattan bangles. She replied they were in the trunk and whilst she was obtaining the keys to open the box, he struck her with the chopper, and said that he not only intended to have her money but that he was going to kill her.

He struck her a glancing blow on the skull, which although not causing a fracture, tore away some flesh. He then became alarmed and ran away. The woman had to receive attention at the hospital.

An Example To Others.

Addressing the prisoner, his Lordship said that Dr. Smalley in his evidence had stated that the woman had five wounds, and that it was fortunate she was not killed.

The accused was therefore fortunate in that he was not standing before the Court on a capital charge.

His Lordship continued that the accused had attacked the woman while she was alone and about to be confined, the object being to get her money. (This was a most serious crime, which had to be met with a sentence which would prove as a deterrent to other bad men.)

The sentence would be seven years' imprisonment with hard labour and 21 strokes of the birch.

YAUMATI BRAWL.

BOTH PARTIES BOUND OVER.

An unusual feature of an assault case which came before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday was that the complainant was himself bound over, together with one of his witnesses and the two defendants. The case was one in which a Chinese summoned a water policeman and another unemployed Chinese for assault.

It was asserted by complainant that the first defendant struck him with a hammer in Parkes Street on Sunday, July 6, at noon. The complainant, however, could not tell a straight forward story, and in the end his Worship bound all parties, together with a witness for complainant, to sign a bond of $50 each to keep the peace for six months.

Detective-Inspector C. P. Fallon intimated that there was something behind it all which neither party would reveal. His Worship agreed, and remarked that there appeared to have been something in the nature of a feud between complainant and the defendants.

Lam Woo, building contractor, to carry bones. A quarrel arose over the matter, and the defendant afterwards ran into a kitchen to get a chopper and slashed complainant's left shoulder.

In sentencing defendant to six weeks' imprisonment, his Worship remarked that it was a serious and savage thing to attack a man with a chopper.

PASSENGER BOATS MISUSED.

CONVEYING GIRLS FOR IMMORAL PURPOSES.

MASTER FINED BUT MISTRESS DISCHARGED.

At the Marine Court yesterday, the master and mistress respectively of two passenger boats were charged with using their boats for the conveyance of women in the harbour for immoral purposes.

Both defendants pleaded guilty, and while the former was fined $50, the latter was discharged.

Sergeant Olivier, who prosecuted, said that he was on patrol in the Northern Fairway at about 8 p.m. on July 12, when he came upon and stopped the man's boat. There were seven girls on board, and in answer to questions put by him, they said they were going to visit the commodore of the S.S. Hoi Ping. He then took them on board his launch, and in spite of his repeated efforts, he could not find the vessel in question. It was then that the girls admitted they were prostitutes.

The Other Story.

Referring to the second case, Sergt. Olivier said that about 8.15 p.m. the same day, he stopped defendant's sampan as she was leaving a Dutch steamer which was lying in the Northern Anchorage. He boarded the junk and found two girls hiding in the hold, covered with blankets. On being discovered, they admitted they were prostitutes, and said that when the mistress of the boat saw the police launch approaching, she told them to hide.

Sergt. Headridge corroborated last witness' evidence, but differed from Sergt. Olivier in saying that the name of the vessel given by the girls on first defendant's boat was Hoi On.

His Worship: It was Hoi Ping, according to the last witness.

Sergt. Olivier: It was either the Hoi Ping or the Hoi On, your Worship. It was apparently a fictitious name.

Defendants' Stories.

The first defendant said he did not know the girls were prostitutes. They told him that they were going to visit the commodore of the Hoi On, whereupon the Magistrate asked whether he did not think it was rather strange that seven girls should visit one commodore. He (the Magistrate) added that he did not believe the man when the latter offered the solution that it was possible only one of the girls knew the man, while the remaining six were only her companions.

The second defendant said that she took a passenger to a British steamer, and whilst she was returning, someone hailed her from the Dutch boat. She accordingly went alongside, and the two girls said they wanted to go ashore, so she took them on board. She denied having instructed them to hide in the hold.

The Magistrate then remarked that according to the Ordinance, "no vessel shall be used for the conveyance of women within the limits of the harbour for the purpose of prostitution." He took it that it meant conveying women from shore to steamer, continuing the Magistrate said that while the prosecution proved that the girls were being taken from steamer to shore, there was nothing to prove that they were conveyed from shore to steamer, and under those circumstances, he could not convict the second defendant, who was accordingly discharged.

As regards the first defendant, he was found guilty, and a fine of $50 or six weeks' hard labour was imposed.

MOTOR CYCLIST HEAVILY FINED.

40 M.P.H. ALONG CHATHAM ROAD.

Mr. L. Huggett, of 555 Nathan Road, was fined $30 by Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, when he was charged with driving his motor cycle along Chatham Road at a speed dangerous to the public. The offence was alleged to have occurred on June 18 at 8.45 p.m.

The defendant, who had a previous conviction for the same offence, was stated to be riding at about 40 m.p.h. at the time.

His Worship remarked that the caution against defendant on the previous occasion did not seem to have any effect. Accordingly the Magistrate imposed a fine of $30, and pointed out that it was most dangerous to speed along Chatham Road, where the Children's Playground is situated.

When charged with trespassing at Lyemoo Barracks for an unlawful purpose, a Chinese explained to Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday that he was there to drink tea!

Sub-Inspector Ellis told his Worship that the trespasser was seen by a sergeant of the Royal Artillery. The man was on the first floor verandah of "C" Block, married quarters, the occupant of which was out at the time.

The defendant was taken to the station, and he then had said that his mission at the barracks was to search for work.

His Worship remarked that the same question, the defendant told a different story and said: "I went there for a drink of tea."

Magistrate: What are you talking about, how do you get tea to drink there?

The defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour.

CHINESE YOUTH ON TRIAL.

ALLEGED UTTERING OF FORGED $100 NOTE.

Wong Kam, a Chinese youth, was on trial yesterday at the Criminal Sessions before Mr. Justice Wood and a jury on a charge of uttering a forged $100 note, purporting to be a Chartered Bank note, and with obtaining $70 by uttering it at the Kam Tai Hotel in Kowloon on May 17.

In outlining the case to the jury, Mr. Somerset Fitzroy pointed out to the jury that they had to be satisfied that accused knew the note was a forgery before they could convict. It appeared that the note came into accused's possession on about May 13, 1930, and he took it to the hotel where he engaged a room. Apparently the accountant had not enough change so he gave $70 to accused who did not sleep in the room that night. He went to Hong Kong and took a room at the Tung Fung boarding house where he stayed the night.

On the following day he returned to the hotel where he received the balance of his change, $20.40. He went away but again returned the next day. In the meantime the note had been taken to the bank, and found to be forged so that when accused went to the hotel he was approached by the accountant.

When asked about the note, he said he had been given the note by a friend and told to engage a room for him at the Kam Tai Hotel. Accused was unable to find his friend, however, with the result that he was arrested.

When charged, accused said that he did not know the note was forged, and asked "if I had known would I have gone back to the hotel?" When charged with uttering the note, accused stated "the note was given to me by An Lun to pay the rent for the room. I did not know it was forged."

An Alleged Conspiracy.

Included among many witnesses called when the trial was continued in the afternoon was a man alleged by accused to be the person who gave him the note to book a room for him. This witness denied the allegation, saying that accused took away the note from him after he had been told that it was a forgery.

A young woman stated in evidence that the accused visited her in Jordan Road and requested her to go out and cash the note, but she refused. She denied a suggestion made by accused that she was in a conspiracy with the previous witness to get accused in trouble. In fact she denied that she was acquainted with the witness.

Witnesses from the Kam Tai Hotel gave evidence of accused's visit, and stated that after they had paid $70 on the first visit and $20.40 the next day, he paid a third visit on May 19 when he was informed that the note was a forgery. He then volunteered to look for his friend and proceeded with the accountant to the Po Hing Theatre. Shortly after that he was placed under arrest.

Accused made a statement from the witness-box, which was a repetition of his previous defence that he booked a room for his friend and did not know that the note was a forgery. He said that the witness who gave him the note and the young woman were conspiring together to get him in trouble.

Before the accused could finish his story, his Lordship adjourned the case until 9.30 this morning to enable it to be concluded in time to allow Mr. Fitzroy to be present at the murder trial which will be heard before the Chief Justice.

STRANGE PLACE TO LOOK FOR TEA.

CHINESE CALLS AT LYEMOON BARRACKS.

When charged with trespassing at Lyemoo Barracks for an unlawful purpose, a Chinese explained to Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday that he was there to drink tea!

Sub-Inspector Ellis told his Worship that the trespasser was seen by a sergeant of the Royal Artillery. The man was on the first floor verandah of "C" Block, married quarters, the occupant of which was out at the time.

The defendant was taken to the station, and he then had said that his mission at the barracks was to search for work.

His Worship remarked that the same question, the defendant told a different story and said: "I went there for a drink of tea."

Magistrate: What are you talking about, how do you get tea to drink there?

The defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour.

CHILD SLAVERY IN HONG KONG... $2.50

By Lt.-Comdr. and Mrs. H. L. Haslewood.

In view of the repeated failures and broken pledges of those in authority, it is well that the public should be apprised of the facts in order that Lord Passfield's policy of steady determination to have the necessary machinery for abolition of the MUI TSAI SYSTEM put into force may be given the whole-hearted support of public opinion together with its untiring vigilance in the future.

The records in this book take the form of a personal narrative because information obtained at first hand in the Colony itself is of value when dealing with a place so far distant from England as is Hong Kong.

The chapters deal with the following:—

- "How Chinese slavery first entered Hong Kong."
- "A challenge to conflict."
- "Public Opinion begins to stir."
- "A pledge to the country."
- "A pledge unhonoured."
- "The new position."
- "What of the future?"

"It certainly is an extraordinary anomaly that the freest nation that ever existed on the face of the earth should be chargeable with the guilt and inconsistency of allowing slavery in any place under its control."—WILLIAM WILBERFORCE.

"If slavery is not wrong, nothing is wrong."—ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

THE AFFAIRS OF MESSRS. HONG KONG &amp; CO.

SHAREHOLDERS in this old-established concern having expressed some doubt as to whether the business management is being conducted with a proper regard for economy, the Chairman of the Board of Directors has appointed a Committee of Inquiry to go into the matter. They are to ascertain whether the staff is sufficient, and whether effectively employed; whether the staff could be reduced by re-distributing duties or abandoning unnecessary undertakings; whether the method of engaging temporary instead of permanent workers for particular duties could be extended; to examine the sources from which workers could be obtained and to suggest new terms of engagement, and, finally, to make any general suggestions regarding the possibility of effecting economies in carrying on the very wide range of activities conducted by Messrs. Hong Kong & Co. No date is fixed upon which the Committee has to submit its report, but the Chairman of the Board is naturally anxious that it should be presented to him as soon as possible.

A Big Undertaking. The Committee has a task of very great magnitude before it, and to discharge its duties thoroughly will take considerable time, seeing that each member has personal business and professional interests which obviously must have prior claim upon his attention. The Committee is required to look into the affairs of a concern which spends about $27,000,000 annually upon men and material, and which has in its employ some thousands of male and female workers of various nationalities. To go thoroughly into the affairs of each department, ascertaining the duties of each employee, scrutinising his or her work and the salary paid for it, deciding whether equal efficiency could be obtained by a re-distribution of duties, allowing of a reduction of staff—all this will take time, especially when those making the investigation have other things to think about in addition to the affairs of Messrs. Hong Kong & Co. Yet unless the inquiry is an exhaustive one, it would be a mere waste of time to have any investigation at all; hence, probably, the decision to impose no time-limit upon the Committee's activities, merely intimating that it should proceed with its work with all possible speed.

Economy and Efficiency. To talk economy as easy words—unless written under contract by some ex-Cabinet Minister or distinguished cleric interested in journalism as a means of making ends meet on a paltry stipend of £2,000 a year—cost nothing, and it is the easiest thing in the world to assert that money is being wasted which could be saved by good management. In some cases even a hasty assertion of this character is true, both in regard to public and private spending departments. Unless constant vigilance is exercised, there are small leakages here and there—duplication of duties—overlapping of responsibilities—which increase the total payroll, imperceptibly at first, but eventually representing a substantial loss to taxpayers or shareholders. In such circumstances economy is obviously possible, but will not be effected unless the attention of those responsible for the spending of money is called to the necessity for reducing expenditure. There are occasions, however, when such suggested economies can be carried out only at the expense of efficiency—in which case it is no economy to reduce expense if the standard of efficiency is to be lowered.

Some weeks ago, when the question of increased salaries for Government servants was before the Legislative Council, Sir WILLIAM PEEL accepted the proposal made by Mr. OWEN HUGHES that a Committee be appointed to ascertain what, if any, economy could be effected in the various public departments composing the Civil Service. His Excellency then declared his own opinion was that "we are somewhat overloaded in the matter of personnel, and that, further, there is room for retrenchment in other directions." In publishing the Governor's comments we said that details regarding the composition of this Committee, and its terms of reference, would be awaited with interest—particularly in view of the criticisms made concerning the composition of the Commission appointed to go into the currency question.

A Job For Experts. Now that the names are available of the Committee appointed to look into the affairs of Messrs. Hong Kong & Co., we must confess to a feeling of disappointment. The non-officials who have been nominated are each of them of unquestioned ability in their own respective spheres of activity, but in view of the problems they will be called upon to consider, their knowledge of general business principles needs reinforcing with particular expert knowledge. When a British Consul has to hold a Marine Court of Inquiry, he is assisted by two or more master-mariners whose technical knowledge is absolutely essential to enable the Consul properly to appreciate the facts presented to him in evidence. In the High Court's nautical assessors from Trinity House assist the learned Judge in dealing with litigation arising out of shipping accidents. The Consul and the Judge each know the law which they have to administer, but they cannot possibly know the technicalities of seamanship upon which the ultimate issue depends. Could a committee composed of seamen, electrical engineers, and exchange-brokers decide—without expert assistance—whether the farmers in the New Territories are making the best out of the land? Is a successful mining-engineer competent to decide whether a ship is seaworthy, or a test-taster qualified to pass an authoritative opinion as to the quality of piece goods?

Economics and Economy. Even a profound knowledge of economics is no great asset in making an inquiry as to where economy in working expenses can be effected. The Committee appointed to look into the affairs of Messrs. Hong Kong & Co. will not need to concern itself with arguments for or against the MARXIAN theory, nor turn to RICARDO or ENOES for enlightenment. They are not called upon to define such words as wealth, capital, labour-values, and surplus-value. Economics in the abstract, and economy in the particular, are vastly different things.

A Professor of Economics is no more qualified to advise upon economy in administrative matters than a Professor of Geology is capable of expressing an authoritative opinion regarding the economic coal consumption of an ocean liner.

Economics is an interesting and an important branch of study—increasingly so in these complicated days of trade and industry, but it cannot and is not meant to concern itself with the saving of dollars and cents in the running of a business.

Why Not Local Experts?

The various departments of the public service have their facts and figures all ready for investigation by the Committee. They are each in a position of advantage when the non-expert arrives on the scene to see how the wheels go round. Can a layman be expected to observe where economy might be effected in carrying out the duties of the Medical Department?—but a doctor might. Can the layman put his finger on waste in the Education Department with the certainty of a man who is himself an educationist? Can the head of a commercial house realise where money might be saved in the Public Works Department as quickly as an architect and civil engineer? Was it not possible to include in the Committee men having this practical knowledge, or give the Committee power to co-opt such men to assist them in arriving at judgments? It will be quite simple to recommend the dismissal of a few typists and office-boys, or even a dozen or two junior clerks and minor officials, but more than that is expected if—and it must be remembered the point is not yet established—the Civil Service is over-stuffed. We believe the heads of departments are all keenly desirous of maintaining a high standard of efficiency with due regard for economy. This does not mean that no reduction or re-distribution is possible. It means that heads of departments would welcome any suggestions made for the improved working of the system under their charge, but practical suggestions can only come from practical men with a knowledge of technical detail. Economy in the Civil Service of this Colony goes beyond calculating how many sheets of carbon-paper are wasted, and how many hours certain individuals sit at their desks. These are matters that the average business-man is qualified to check up and pass an opinion upon. It is in the maze of technicalities, differing in each department, that the knowledge of an independent expert is required on the Committee, and no provision has been made for it—any more than a recognised association of taxpayers like the Kowloon Residents' Association was invited to nominate a representative on the Committee of the humble man in the street.

Captain G. F. V. Scott-Douglas, the distinguished polo player, recently died at King Edward VII. Hospital, London, from concussion received in an accident at Templeton, near Richmond Park. His pony came in collision with that of another player while he was taking part in the Young Cup competition. Captain Scott-Douglas' animal fell on him. He died without recovering consciousness. Captain Scott-Douglas, a brother of Sir George Douglas, Bt., married the Countess of St. Germans, nee Lady Blanche Somerset, elder sister of the Duke of Beaufort. Her first husband lost his life in the hunting field.

Miss Mary Pickford turned cook in honour of the British Navy at a party given by Mr. John Loder, the British film star, to officers of H.M.S. Dauntless at the Malibu Beach, last month. Stars present at the party included Dolores Del Rio, Charles Farrell and Norman Kerry. After the midshipmen had been sent back to Santa Monica in Mr. Loder's car, driven by his chief, to rejoin their ship, Lieut. Comdr. Hutchinson arrived at the party too late for dinner. Miss Pickford insisted on invading the kitchen and cooking his dinner, which consisted of soup, fish, and omelette and waffles with maple-syrup. The following evening, at a dance given on board the Dauntless, to which a number of stars were invited, Miss Pickford described her kitchen experiences.

A dinner party which did not break up until early in the morning marked the celebration of the silver wedding of the ex-Crown Prince of Germany in the ex-Kaiser's castle at Doorn last month. Flowers were sent to the castle by German royalties and Dutch friends of the Hohenzollern family. Several Dutch friends were also invited to the dinner, which was attended by the ex-Kaiser, the ex-Crown Prince, the ex-Crown Princess and their five children.

Temperament has wrecked another Hollywood marriage. Miss Elsie Bartlett, a stage actress, has been granted a divorce here from her husband, Mr. Joseph Schildkraut, the film star, on the grounds that his "violent fits of temperamental rage" made life with him impossible. Mr. Schildkraut was born in Vienna in 1885. His mother was a Hungarian, his father a Rumanian. He made his stage debut in New York at the age of 16.

The world's largest air liner, the Dornier Do.X, has been equipped with new motors and is being prepared for trial cruises in the North Sea, including a flight from Southampton to Oslo, preparatory to an Atlantic crossing in three hops. Although the seaplane can accommodate 170 passengers, none will be carried on the first crossing. An American millionaire has offered $4,000 for the privilege of being the only passenger.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons, Mr. Philip Snowden, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the total estimated cost of the Zambesi Bridge scheme, including railway extensions, was a little over £3,000,000. The British Exchequer was responsible for £500,000 and the Nyasaland Government for just over £2,500,000.

A new attempt to increase the anti-religious movement in Russia is reported. As it is now being realised that the Russian people must have something to worship, a plan is being worked out by the Bolsheviks for elevating to the rank of a religion a new cult based on the "Red Trinity" of "liberty, equality, and fraternity." It is thought by this means that the masses, who are more susceptible to mysticism than to political argument, will be more easily persuaded to accept Bolshevik ideals. Part of the money spent on Communist propaganda will be devoted to erecting temples dedicated to the future Soviet cult.

A new British airship, half as large again as the R.100 and R.101 (now the biggest in the world) and twice the size of the Graf Zeppelin may be built, according to a statement made by Lord Thomson in the House of Lords if all goes well with experiments now being made. One test with existing British airships, Lord Thomson said would take place in a flight to Canada and another to India in September. Until the test flights are finished it was impossible to give an idea of what the future airship policy is going to be. If the flights, as he thought was likely to be the case, proved satisfactory, it might be urged that construction should proceed forthwith of a 7,500,000 cubic airship.

It was announced recently that Kensington House, one of the finest mansions in London and overlooking Kensington Gardens, W., is to become the Soviet Embassy. The Soviet Embassy is now temporarily housed in Grosvenor Square, W.

Bert Barry, who lost his title in the world's professional sculling championship race on the Thames against Ted Phelys, says that he is quite prepared to meet Phelps in a second race during the autumn. "This week I am undergoing medical examination," said Barry. "My left arm was like a lump of lead after the race, and I must get that righted before I issue a challenge. If I can get fit within a month or so, I am certain I can put up a better show than I did in my losing race."

At the Crown Land Office yesterday, Kowloon Inland Lot No. 2264, situated at Prince Edward Road, was sold to Mr. Lok, Yung Cheong of 122, Queen's Road Central for $306,250. The land has an area of about 33,830 sq. feet and its annual rental is $370.

A Chinese woman named Chan Yee was sentenced to eight months' hard labour at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday for returning to the Colony after having been banished for ten years in 1924. Defendant stated that she came back to get some money from her husband to buy food.

Pleading guilty to a charge of receiving a purse which he knew was stolen, a Chinese was sentenced to three months' hard labour by Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. It was stated that the purse, which contained $11, was cut from the complainant's belt.

The steam launch Sun Chiu On, which was formerly the Fee Ting, was sold at Messrs. Hughes and Hough yesterday to Mr. Lam Yui Cheung of 132, Bonham Street East for $3,200. The vessel has a net tonnage of 24.81 and gross 38.48, and her dimensions are length 72 feet six inches, breadth 13 feet 8 inches and depth 6 feet 5 inches.

The body which was found by the Police in a boat at Canton Road yesterday was that of an Australian, Mr. G. R. Welch. It is learned that the deceased had only been in the Colony for a few months, during which time he carried on a small import and export business in Kowloon Building, Queen's Road Central.

Mr. J. Gubbay and Mr. A. E. Des Voeux returned to the Colony yesterday by R.M.S. Empress of Russia.

The amazing tricks of Nicola, the magician, were again shown at the Star Theatre last evening, when a very entertaining programme was presented. He has a very lengthy repertoire of stunts, including some well-known international tricks. Nicola will be giving his final performance to-night, and those who delight in magical shows are well advised not to miss the opportunity of seeing this talented magician and his company.

An objection to the dress worn by a Chinese interpreter at the Yau-mat Police Station was raised by Mr. Justice Wood when the man appeared as a witness in the forged bank note case. The interpreter was dressed in white shorts, which his Lordship remarked did not appear to be the correct apparel when appearing in Court to give evidence. Mr. Somerset Fitzroy, the Crown Attorney, said he would make a note of his Lordship's observation.

Whilst the s.s. Fatshan was on her way down from Canton on Sunday night, a Chinese passenger committed suicide by jumping overboard. It appears that when the vessel was in the vicinity of Sampan Chau at about 7.50 p.m. the man jumped through the port hole of the native lavatory. The boat was immediately stopped in an effort to rescue the man, but the search proved to be useless and the vessel continued on her way. A piece of paper, bearing the words "Tung Kwai-pak" and "No. 2, Sai Ho Street" was found amongst the man's belongings. They are believed to be his name and address.

The coxswain of the steam launch Tung On was before the Marine Magistrate yesterday on the charge of leaving the harbour during prohibited hours without a clearance and was fined $25. It was stated that the man had a clean record.

Looking Back 25 Years.

Yesterday a number of French houses in the Colony were decorated with Chinese lanterns, and the French flag flew from many flagpoles. The occasion was the National Fete Day, and to celebrate it the French Consul, M. G. Liebert, welcomed the French and other residents of the community at his house in McDonnell Road. Besides the French visitors he received the majority of the other Consuls stationed at Hong Kong, while among his English guests were H.E. the Governor, Sir H.S. Berkeley and Commodore Dicken. Hong Kong Daily Press, July 15, 1905.

Looking Back 50 Years.

It is now more than eighteen months since the great fire of Christmas, 1878, which laid in ruins a large section of the City of Victoria. We were reminded of the fact by the announcement of the parade of the Fire Brigade last night and the use of the new bell lately hung in the Clock Tower. It was demonstrated most clearly that a better supply of water was absolutely necessary, especially on the higher levels. It was made apparent that an experienced and practical man was needed to head the Fire Brigade. Yet, at the expiration of a year and a half since the disaster, we find that the only improvements really effected amount to the acquisition of a new fire bell and of a new engine. Hong Kong Daily Press, July 15, 1880.

LOANS TO CHIANG KAI SHEK.

SIGNIFICANT WARNING TO WOULD-BE LENDERS.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

SHANGHAI, July 14. In the course of a statement issued to-day, Chu Ao Hsiang, said that, according to Shanghai advisers, Chiang Kai Shek had instructed Mr. T. V. Soong to raise $10,000,000 from the Native Bankers' Association to finance his campaign.

Any loan made by Chinese bankers to Chiang Kai Shek at this time would be considered a criminal act and liable to punishment in the future, Chu Ao Hsiang declared, pointing out that Yen Hai Shan had repeatedly warned Chinese merchants not to assist Chiang Kai Shek financially. "Loans made before such warnings might be excusable and be investigated impartially with the view to protecting private interests and maintaining the tranquillity of the financial market, but loans made in defiance of these warnings would not be recognised under any circumstances, and the lenders would be held strictly responsible for the consequences of their own acts."

BANDITS ON PEIPING-TIENTSIN RAILWAY.

(Fah Tsz Yat Pao.)

PEIPING, July 14. Bandits along the railway between here and Tientsin have become very active. The Railway Bureau is considering their suppression.

Armoured cars are patrolling the railway to afford adequate protection to passenger trains, and instructions have been circulated to the authorities of the districts along the railway route to take precautionary measures against any untoward occurrence on the railway.

WORLD'S FIRST RAILWAY.

CENTENARY CELEBRATION.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 13. The centenary of the opening of the Liverpool and Manchester Railway, which was the world's first successful commercial locomotive railway in the modern sense of the term, will be celebrated at Liverpool in September, and arrangements have been made to make the celebrations worthy of the unique occasion.

Although during its trial runs in 1825 the speed attained by the train drawn by the steam engine "Rocket" did not reach 18 miles an hour when running light, within one week of the inauguration of the service it was travelling at 30 miles hourly over the Liverpool-Manchester track.

In connection with the September celebrations, which are being organised by the City of Liverpool and Manchester, with the co-operation of the British Railways, a pageant depicting the evolution of transport will be performed in which 5,000 men will take part.

K U O M I N T A N G PLENARY SESSION.

NANKING PREFERABLE TO PEIPING.

(Fah Tsz Yat Pao.)

PEIPING, July 14. In an interview with foreign Pressmen, Mr. Chen Kung Po, a prominent member of the Extremists of the Kuomintang, made the following statement:—

The meeting held here yesterday is simply a ceremony for the enlarged Plenary Session of the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang. All questions regarding the Kuomintang will not be settled until Mr. Wang Ching Wei arrives at Peiping. Mr. Wang will deal with only Party affairs, and will not involve himself in the formation of the proposed Provisional Government. Yen Hai Shan, in the opinion of the speaker, should be the Chairman of the Government.

Asked whether the future government will remain in Peiping after the Nanking régime is overthrown, Mr. Chen said that he would say that Nanking is more preferable than Peiping, as Nanking is the centre of economical and political affairs of the country.

EMPIRE FREE TRADE.

ARRANGEMENTS TO BENEFIT WORKING CLASS.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

RUGBY, July 13. An important reference to Empire Free Trade was made by the Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, when he delivered a speech at the Crystal Palace last night.

Mr. MacDonald emphasised that the advocates of Empire Free Trade had no authority from the Dominions to engage in the present propaganda.

There was not a single Dominion but was developing on nationalist lines its own industrial and economic evolution, and no Government, whatever its majority may be in this country, could force on the Dominions an economic policy in which the Dominions did not believe.

Labour's Chance of Agreement with Dominions.

Dealing with the implication that the Labour Government had no interest in the Dominions and no influence upon Dominion opinion, he said: "Against that I believe that if the Dominions are going to come in with us in economic co-operation, if the Dominions and ourselves are to devise an economic and industrial policy which will be beneficial to all of us, then the Labour Government has a better chance of bringing about that agreement than a Government of any other party in this country. "In the Imperial Conference in September we are going to do every thing that can be done by the British Government to come to economic arrangements with the Dominions that will benefit the working classes of this country."

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN NEGOTIATIONS.

FORMER FOREIGN MINISTER APPOINTED TO LONDON.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

CAIRO, July 13. Hafez Pasha, the Foreign Minister, has been appointed Egyptian Minister to London. Abdel Fattah becomes Foreign Minister.

The Premier, Sidky Pasha, interviewed by Reuters, said it was not the immediate aim of the new Minister to resume the interrupted Anglo-Egyptian negotiations, but the Government would doubtless choose the earliest opportunity for their resumption.

EGYPTIAN PARLIAMENT ADJOURNED.

CAIRO, July 13. A Royal Decree has been issued adjourning Parliament for three weeks.

ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN FLIERS.

PLANE CRASHES ON MOUNTAIN RANGE.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

RANGOON, July 13. A message from Promé states that Matthews, one of the airmen in the plane which crashed while attempting a flight from England to Australia, was picked up by villagers on the slopes of the Arakanyoma Range on which the plane crashed.

Matthews, together with his companion, Hook, had been walking for seven days following the course of a stream.

Hook finally became exhausted and was unable to walk. He was left a day's march behind, and search parties have now been despatched to find him.

LATER. Hook was injured more severely than Matthews when their aeroplane crashed, which was due to a leak in a petrol pipe.

The aviators had only a small supply of food and water, and both were suffering from malaria.

Matthews tried to carry Hook, but this was difficult owing to the nature of the ground. They stumbled on for days in wretched weather, sleeping in hunters' huts and bamboo clumps. Finally, Matthews pushed on, leaving Hook, at his own request, with villagers and staggered into Promé at the end of his tether.

Promé is 161 miles north-east of Rangoon.

LATER. Matthews is ill at Promé, and he is being medically attended for exposure and exhaustion.

There is no news of Hook, for whom the police and villagers, accompanied by a doctor, are searching.

According to Matthews, the aeroplane crashed on a bamboo clump while they were trying to fly over the Yoma mountains. The airmen slid down to the ground without being seriously injured, but the machine was hopelessly wrecked.

The airmen followed the course of the Buvo River for a week, but their food was steadily dwindling. Hook was so ill on the seventh day that he was unable to stand. They decided that their only chance was for Matthews to push on and try to find help. He was at the end of his tether when he stumbled across a party of villagers who brought him into Promé.

AGRICULTURE IN BRITAIN.

LABOUR'S ENCOURAGEMENT TO FARMERS.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

RUGBY, July 13. Earl De La Warr, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, speaking at Mold yesterday, said Dr. Addison, Minister of Agriculture, intended to place the development of agriculture, rural education and research in the forefront of his policy. The Government, he added, was considering the possibility of giving to the majority of farmers encouragement in producing a given commodity and the right to form an organisation for controlling the marketing of that commodity with power to bring in recalcitrant minorities.

This would entail formulating a scheme for submission to Parliament through the Ministry of Agriculture and satisfying them that the scheme represented the view of the bulk of produce and that the rights of minorities of consumers had been considered. Although they did not envisage taking power to enforce the scheme of organisation upon industry, they did envisage giving to industry the power to organise itself.

GREEK GENERAL SENTENCED.

IRREGULAR TRANSACTIONS WITH ARMY.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

ATHENS, July 13. The special commission appointed to try General Pangalos has sentenced him to two years' imprisonment for transactions in connection with the supply of cloth to the Army.

INDIAN VICEROY'S STATEMENT.

CONGRESS' ATTITUDE REMAINS UNCHANGED.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

BOMBAY, July 13. Vallabhai Patel, Acting President of the Congress, in the course of a statement, expressed the opinion that there was nothing in the Viceroy's statement justifying the slightest change in the Congress' attitude, and he did not doubt but that the delegates to the Round Table Conference would in due time be disillusioned.

INDIAN SITUATION SERIOUS.

"A MELANCHOLY THING."

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

RUGBY, July 13. In the course of a speech delivered at the Crystal Palace last night, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister, said the state of India to-day was serious. What was happening was only adding to India's difficulties and was not advancing India's chance of reaching Dominion status.

"Men with whom we wish to co-operate have had to be arrested for actions which, if they themselves had been responsible for purely Indian Government, faced with the conditions such as those they have created recently, would have compelled the arrest of people responsible for the conditions.

LEEDS, July 14. There was no play before lunch.

"The whole of this is a melancholy thing which is unnecessary and foolish. Men who are going to be Governors of States and responsible for the Administration ought to look ahead and understand the conditions under which alone administration and change are possible."

WHEAT PRICES IN AMERICA.

PRICE BELOW COST OF PRODUCTION.

(REUTER'S AMERICAN SERVICE.)

WASHINGTON, July 13. Senator Capper, of Kansas, in advocating the purchase of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat by the Federal Farm Board, in order to stabilise the wheat prices, intends to appeal to President Hoover in consequence of the Board's refusal to do so.

The scheme in effect, would put a bounty on exported wheat. Senator Capper says that no sane man can argue that wheat can be profitably raised at the present price of 60 cents per bushel.

A number of the leading Middle West Senators are likely to support Senator Capper.

The Farm Board has angered the Western States by dumping 350,000 bushels which the Government bought last year at $1.15 on the Kansas City Market at 78 cents.

Mr. Alexander Legge, Chairman of the Board, has further strained relations by calling Kansas the "biggest hog lying in the trough," and by telling those who demanded his resignation to "go to hell."

SHANGHAI, July 14. The Dutch steamer Tjikandi, en route to Batavia from Dairen, is ashore between Shanghai and Foochow, about 240 miles from here.

CALCUTTA SWEEP STORIES.

MEN WHO DUPLICATE THEIR WINS.

WINDFALL THAT CAME TO AN ACTRESS.

Major H. Hobbs recently published a volume on the romance of the Calcutta sweep, which is full of racy stories, illustrating the truth of the negro speaker's dictum. There is, for instance, the case of the ship's captain Blossom. He won first prize in the sweep, and on the way to England with the money won another £8,000 in the Hamburg lottery.

But for a sequence of luck nothing has beaten the record of a captain once of the Indian cavalry. Home on leave in 1910, he drew Lemberg, then in the sweep promoted by his club drew Lemberg again. While driving to the race, in a sovereign sweep got up in the four-in-hand, he again drew Lemberg. The Indian Army saw him no more.

Man Who Spoke too Soon.

Few love romances are woven round the winners, says the author, but he gives one.

A girl engaged to an acting-sergeant in the Governor's band told her mistress, with the result that the man was warned that if he married without permission he would be returned to his unit as a private. The marriage was postponed, and the girl obtained a situation in Annam. There she bought a ticket, won 98,000 rupees, and after the Armistice married the man she loved.

In 1913 a planter's assistant received a cable from a relative in England saying that his horse Craganor had won. He proposed to a girl, and then called on his chief and told him exactly what he thought of him.

Major Hobbs believes that sudden wood fortune breeds meanness and tells stories to prove it.

A box of cigars has stood as an emblem of gratitude more than once. For Brown, of the Alliance Bank, after the Sweep had closed and as a special favour, parted with one of his tickets to a comparative stranger. It drew Troutbeck, and the lucky winner sent Brown a box of weeds which, like the ticket, cost 10 rupees.

And another man winner of a £60,000 prize, never mentioned it to his typist who had worked for him for years.

Actress's Windfall.

One of the best stories is the following:

In 1920, the year Spion Kop won the Derby, N. Chisholm, of the National Bank of India, met a young actress at dinner, who was lamenting the fact that she had neglected to buy a ticket for the sweep, before leaving for England.

Chisholm said he had three tickets and that if he had any luck she should have half.

She gave him her address in London and within a week of her arrival there she received his cheque for £30,000, half of the prize he had won.

Lucy laughs at figures, says the author, rather more loudly than love laughs at blacksmiths. The winning numbers in the big sweeps on the Derby and the St. Leger in 1927 were obtained by the same member of the Calcutta Turf Club, Mr. G. W. J. Levien. What the odds were against such a double would run into millions.

NANKING'S ARMY.

NEW GERMAN MILITARY ADVISER.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

BERLIN, July 13.

The Press states that General Wetzel, who recently retired, an officer with long Staff experience, has accepted service with the Chinese National Government, and has gone to China, where, apparently, he will succeed Lieut.-Colonel Kriebel as Military Adviser to the Nanking Government.

COMMUNAL RIOTING IN BENGAL.

LOOTING AND INCENDIARISM.

(THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.)

MYMENSINGH (Bengal) July 13. Nine Hindus were killed in the course of communal rioting.

Mohammedans on Saturday looted a number of houses in the Kishoreganj division. Extensive looting and incendiarism continue, in spite of firing by the police circle.

One officer has been injured. Twenty-five men of the Frontier Rifles arrived last night, and another body is following.

CHAMPION LENDER.

£7,000,000 OWING, DOES NOT WORRY.

200,000 PEOPLE ON HIS BOOKS.

A man who is the head of an organisation in America which has 250,000 persons owing it about £7,000,000, is staying in London.

He is Mr. Leslie C. Harbison, President of the Household Finance Corporation of Chicago, which lends money to working-class families under the provisions of what is known as the Uniform Small Loan Law.

Despite the enormous amount of money that his corporation has outstanding, Mr. Harbison is probably one of the least worried men in London.

"The number of defaulters who borrow money from us is practically negligible," said Mr. Harbison. "My experience is that small borrowers almost invariably pay back if they are really in need of money."

Lend to the Wife.

We make friends of our borrowers by lending them money when they most need it and they rarely fail us. In the case of a married man we usually pay the loan direct to the man's wife. That is a great safeguard.

"The maximum amount we lend is £50 and we charge interest at the rate of 2½ per cent. per month on the actual number of days the money is lent. We have 120 branch offices in 12 States and more than 200,000 borrowers are constantly on our books."

Loan for Divorce.

People borrow to pay for such things as operations, dental treatment, clothing, insurance and education, divorce costs and all sorts of emergencies.

Among unusual applications was that of a woman who had had her husband arrested for beating her. She relented and applied to the Corporation for money to pay his fine and get him out of gaol.

DRAMA OF THE FUR COAT.

MAYOR OF BERLIN DISMISSED.

The last act in the tragedy of that historic garment, the fur coat of Frau Boess, the Lady Mayor of Berlin, was enacted recently, when special editions of the newspaper announced to waiting crowds that Herr Boess, the Lord Mayor of Berlin, had been sentenced to instant dismissal from his office and to forfeit a third of his pension.

This sentence does not, however, complete the disfigurement of the chief of Berlin's city fathers. (Continued on next column.)

Dr. Wang has telegraphed to Sir Miles Lampson, the British Minister, inviting him to come South to discuss the matter.

BRITISH KINEMA FILM MERGER.

TO MAKE, PRINT, AND RENT OWN PICTURES.

The film merger, by which it is intended to bring International Talking Screen Productions, Ltd., British Screen Productions, Ltd., Automatic Film Printing, Ltd., British Filmcraft Productions, Ltd., and the Argosy Film Company, into a single enterprise to be called Argosy Filmcraft, Ltd., is going through, according to a statement made by Captain G. J. Banfield, the director of British Filmcraft Productions.

Captain Banfield claimed that the amalgamation would be the only enterprise in the film industry which would be able to make, print, and distribute its own films; it would be quite self-sufficient.

The shareholders' meeting was held on April 30, and as soon as the merger became an established fact the work on a film entitled "The Lure," with Margaret Bannerman, Pat Aberne, and Kenneth McLagen in the cast started almost immediately as the first production of the amalgamated companies.

Captain Banfield, who, incidentally, was the first film director to visit Hollywood with the object of studying the "talkie" industry at first hand, said that proxies representing the necessary three-quarters of the shareholders in each of the component companies were already held in favour of amalgamation.

"The amalgamation is a foregone conclusion. We are out to make British pictures," said Captain Banfield. "We hope to succeed. Top-liners on contract include Margaret Bannerman, Sir John Martin Harvey, and Matheson Lang. The Worton Hall Studios, Isleworth, the British Filmcraft studios at Walthamstow, and a film-printing factory and a distribution centre in Wardour Street are controlled by the companies concerned in the proposed merger. The authorised capital of International Talking Screen Productions, Ltd., is £250,000, the capital of British Screen Productions, Ltd., is £250,000, the capital authorised and issued of British Filmcraft Productions, Ltd., £125,000, £200,000, privately held, and of Automatic Film Printing, Ltd., £10,000, held by British Screen productions, Ltd.

Herr Boess, who has already to give up the offending fur coat—which he had obtained at a price far below its true value from the Brothers Sklarek, the millionaire clothiers, who are accused of having defrauded the German capital of £1,500,000—will, in addition, pay the heavy costs of the proceedings.

Duty Neglected. The court found that Herr Boess, in accepting the fur coat for his wife from the Brothers Sklarek, had acted in a manner unworthy of the high dignity of the position he held.

He had further neglected the duties of his office in not supervising efficiently the financial transactions of the city. The long record of the Lord Mayor's service with the city was, however, taken into account, and the court refrained from cancelling his pension entirely, allowing him to enjoy two-thirds of it.

Hong Kong at Play.

SPORTS NOTES AND COMMENTS.

[By "BROADCASTER"]

It was a pity that so many fouls were introduced into the junior water polo match between the V.R.C. and the Fukien Club. When the game was called the latter club was actually leading by two goals to one and they certainly lost a good opportunity to tie with the V.R.C. for league leadership. In the previous meeting between these two teams the V.R.C. won by four goals to three, so that it can be seen that the race between these two teams is a very close one. All lovers of the game will hope that a replay will be ordered as that would be the most satisfactory way of settling the question as to which Club should get the points. The suspension of any particular player from either side in a game which contained so many fouls, would not adequately meet the case.

It is obvious that the impression is deeply embedded in the minds of some of the younger players that rough tactics are just the thing in water polo. They are absolutely wrong. Not so many years ago, some of the best exponents of the game, a Belgian international, who was in Hong Kong at the time, showed followers of the game the utility of adopting any method whereby the player neglects the ball and goes for the man. This player incidentally was a wonderful shot and could score goals from any angle and distance. No goalkeeper was proof against him and several of the best players to-day learned their art from him. I do not recall seeing this star adopt tactics which could be described as "glaring fouls."

Recently I have noticed that the tendency has been to foul an opponent who is too speedy. I am not hitting at any particular team, but I am sure those who understand the game will agree with me that apart from showing extremely bad sportsmanship, a player who adopts such methods is letting his side down. Quite frequently a foul awarded against a side leads to a goal, and it can be seen, therefore, that it would be far more profitable to act like a gentleman and take a chance rather than act otherwise and risk a goal.

In the senior division of the water polo league, the V.R.C. are carrying everything before them, and it looks very much as if they will maintain their unbeaten record of last season. If the V.R.C. juniors can account for the Fukien Club in case a replay is ordered, then they also may achieve the record of their seniors. If, however, the Fukien Club should win, then there will be a tie for leadership, provided both teams win their remaining fixtures. The decision regarding Friday's game will be interesting.

There are four matches left in each division of the lawn bowls league to decide the championship. It may be safely assumed that senior honours now rest between Craigengower and Civil Service, as the possibility of Taihook having a blow at the leaders was considerably minimised when they dropped the points at Kowloon C.C. It is doubtful which of the two teams will reach the top. Civil Service have a valuable asset in A. W. Grimmit, who has done more than any other skip in the present high standing of the team. Last Saturday their conquest over the Bowling Green was possible owing to a majority of 14 shots on Grimmit's rink. Craigengower will have to put in better team work than was the case last Saturday when the Police gave them a serious fright in the early part of the game. West's rink appeared to do nothing wrong, and he gave Bradbury's rink what might be called the hardest game of the season. Craigengower won by 17 shots, thanks to Omar's rink showing a majority of 18 shots, while his lead, which commenced in about the eighth end, inspired the other rinks. The championship problem will be somewhat clear when the two Valley teams meet on Saturday week, after which they have still the postponed match to go through.

Last season Civil Service senior and junior teams were in a hopeful position to accomplish the double, but they were disappointed in both directions. However, their chances of winning both shields were never so bright, but one never knows whether history will repeat itself. Civil Service and Bowling Green juniors are again in a dead heat for the honours. (Continued on next column.)

WATER POLO LEAGUE.

CHINESE TEAM LOSES-A VALUABLE POINT.

SOME DISGUSTING FOULS.

The Fukien Club lost whatever chance they had of wresting the junior water polo league leadership from the V.R.C. juniors when they dropped a valuable point against the University.

At the interval, the Fukien club, which had a full muster of players, were leading by two goals to nil, and it was the Bank of England to an orange pip that they would finish up on top. However, some very disgusting fouls were perpetrated by several members of their team in the second half, with the result that three of their players were sent out of the bath in quick succession. The University then drew level through Wong Sheng Hing, who had hitherto been the victim of two heavy handed backs.

With the score standing at 2-1 in their favour, the Fukien Club could easily have held University out, but they made the biggest error they could make at this stage by trying to chalk up a big score against the University with the result that team work was sacrificed for a spectacular but worthless bombardment of the University's citadel.

The University, however, equalised through a beautiful shot just before the end when the Fukien team became reckless. The final whistle came with the University being hard pressed but they came through with honour, divided.

The Fukien Club were by far the better team, but they threw the game away by fouling at every possible opportunity when the game was resumed after half time.

E.A. v. Royal Navy.

In the senior game, the Royal Artillery and the Royal Navy played a fine clean game, which very properly resulted in a draw. There was little to choose between the sides. Fouls were few and far between, and the players must have felt the pace. The forwards on both sides were weak on both sides, and the excellent goalkeeping of both Ribbards and Parker reduced all the forwards' chances of scoring to practically nothing.

and since the Yacht Club were put aside last Saturday, there appears to be no obstruction in the way of the two teams fighting for the survival of the fittest. Here, again, the two leaders clash for the first time nearly a fortnight hence. This week the leaders are playing away from home. Civil Service visiting the Electric R.C., and the Bowling Green travelling to Taihook. If they win or fall together well and good, but what a bowl there will be if one of them gets the points to have an advantage on the other!

Touching on a few of the other matches, Kowloon Dock at last realised their ambitions by beating Club de Recreo to secure their second victory. Kowloon C.C. seniors upset popular fancy by defeating Taihook, while Taihook juniors had a comfortable victory over the Electricians. Kowloon C.C. juniors also paid off old scores by taking the points from Club de Recreo on a margin of four shots.

The congratulations of tennis "fans" will go out to the Chinese Recreation Club on winning the "C" division shield. It might be of interest to state that this shield, which was presented by Dr. Charles Forsyth, was originally put up for the Hard Court League, and as such it was competed for from 1918 to 1920. Owing to the scarcity of hard courts, this competition was abandoned from 1921 to 1925, and the following year this trophy was used for a "C" division. Incidentally, the Chinese Recreation Club were the first to win this shield (hard courts) in 1918, and since then they have won it again in 1923, 1927, and 1928. In 1929 South China Athletic Association annexed it so it must be with no little satisfaction that the C.R.C. again re-captured it. In the "B" division also, they are well in the van in the race for championship honours, and it is doubtful whether any Club can put a stop to their progress. They are not so successful, however, in the "A" division where, I think, the Indians stand the best chance of winning. The European Y.M.C.A. ladies played the heat on Saturday afternoon and played off two matches, meeting a pair from each Club alternatively. They incidentally scored their first win of the season at the expense of South China, and the latter are considered quite a formidable combination, they may well be proud of the victory.

INTERLACHEN, July 13. After receiving the American Open Golf Championship trophy, Bobby Jones immediately entrained for his home town of Atlanta for the first time since his triumphant tour in England.

His aggregate was one stroke behind the record of Chick Evans fourteen years ago. After a wonderful round in the morning he found the rough on many occasions in the afternoon, but the wizard pulled out of the trouble and ended up the competition with a magnificent forty footer to do the last round in 75. He retired amid the plaudits of 15,000 people.

SCHMELING INTENT ON SECOND BOUT.

NOT TO BOX ANY OTHER BEFORE SHARKEY.

Berlin, July 4.—Max Schmeling, the new heavy-weight world-champion, who was cordially welcomed home by big crowds both at Bremen and Berlin, declared that his manager had remained in America in order to settle the details of the return fight with Sharkey which is to be held probably in September or possibly February next. Of the gross receipts of this match Schmeling will get 37.5 and Sharkey 12.5 per cent.

Schmeling, who has not yet resumed training, as he is still suffering from the effects of the foul, will shortly go to the Prussian coast with his mother for recuperation. Referring to the big fight, Schmeling stated: "Never having met Sharkey before, I was cautiously confirming myself to studying him during the first three rounds, to attack in the fourth which, I claim, was the best method in the circumstances. I am quite confident that had the issue not been forced by a foul, I would not have been brought down by Sharkey, whose fighting tactics, I am now familiar with. This experience will be invaluable in the return match. I shall go to America in August, prepared to defend my title but will not meet any other opponent before Sharkey who, I believe, is to-day America's best boxer."

"WELCOME DANGER."

FURTHER ACTION BEING TAKEN BY KUOMINTANG.

Further developments in the action brought against the Grand Theatre Corporation Shanghai in connection with the film "Welcome Danger" are promised if statements made in the Chinese Press have any foundation in fact.

These say that the District Kuomintang has sent a request to the Special District Court for early re-hearing of the charges of fraud and insulting conduct brought against Mr. W. Y. C. Kao of the corporation by Professor Shen Hung.

It will be remembered, says the N.C. Daily News that a scene took place at the theatre last March during the screening of Harold Lloyd's picture. Professor Shen Hung then addressed the people in the theatre and accused them of being unpatriotic in that they were looking at a picture which expressed contempt for China and were making no effort to signify resentment. A disturbance followed. Professor Shen was subsequently arrested and detained at a neighbouring police station. He held Mr. Kao responsible for his arrest and detention.

The case has been dragging on for some time. It was last before the District Provisional Court, when, after a disagreement between the presiding judge and Senior Consul's Deputy, Mr. Meinhardt, it was adjourned indefinitely.

CHINA'S FIRST AIR BATTLE.

"CHINESE LINDBERGH" DESCRIBES FIGHT.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW WITH NANKING'S AIR CHIEF.

[UNITED PRESS.]

An air battle was recently staged in Honan which resulted in the forced landing of a rebel plane of Junker make and the death of its pilot.

Trifling though this incident may seem to the Western world, it was according to the Government's aviation expert, the first air battle that the Chinese had ever engaged in.

It was with a sense of gratification that General Chang Hwei Chang, Director of the Aviation Bureau of the Ministry of War, but better known as "Chinese Lindbergh," recounted the event to the United Press. "It was the first time that an aeroplane from the Northern rebel camp had ever ventured beyond their lines on to our ground," said General Chang. "Unfortunately for them, it was immediately encountered by one of the Government's planes, and after only a short engagement, it was overpowered and forced down. Since then, none of the rebel planes has dared to come over."

The entire air force under the National Government, according to General Chang, is composed of nine squadrons, each consisting of nine aeroplanes. With the exception of 15 observation planes, the rest are all bombing planes, equipped with full armament. The capacity of these planes is from two to three persons. Junker (German), Douglas (American), Corsair (American), Moth (British) and Potze (French) planes are used. A new shipment consisting of 10 Douglas and 12 Corsairs has just arrived and is being organised into a new squadron to be dispatched to the front.

Nanking's Air Strength.

Twelve pilots, nine observers and 80 mechanics are employed in each squadron. Most of the squadron leaders and pilots are graduates of the Canton Aviation School, which was formed by General Chiang in 1927. In the three years of its existence, it has already trained more than 70 persons who are all serving in the Government air force.

Seven squadrons are stationed on the northern front; three at Kweichow, on the Lianhai Railway, from which the Commander-in-Chief is directing operations against the rebels; one at Yencheng, two at Liuhou and one on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway. Two others are engaged in the Government's punitive campaign against Chang Fat Fui and his "Ironclads" in Hunan.

The squadrons are placed under the direction of the Army Commanders in their respective locations. Those at Kweichow are naturally under the personal direction of the Commander-in-Chief; those on the Tientsin-Pukow line under General Han Fu Chai; those at Yencheng under General Ho Chien Chun and those at Hankow under General Ho Ying Ching. "Of course, I also directed," reminded General Chang, "while at the front, General Chang led the planes out on the field at least once or twice a day."

The chief work of the Government planes has been to destroy the rebel's supply cars, railways and artillery and to make observations as to the formation of the rebel army.

Planes' Deadly Work.

Besides the ill-fated rebel plane which was disabled, the Government air force has succeeded in demolishing the railway bridge across the Yellow River above Chengchow, two rebel armoured cars and two locomotives. A time bomb from a Government plane mortally wounded an important rebel general, Fan Chung Shiu.

The planes have also proved a severe menace to both the cavalry and the artillery of the rebels. "No matter how fast their cavalry may be able to charge upon our troops, they dare not come out again for fear of our aerial attacks," declared General Chang. "So their artillery has been unable to do its deadly work, because the bombs from our planes do not permit them to stay in one position long enough to attack."

General Chang told with some amusement how the Government planes have become such a scare among the insurgents that their high officials are afraid to live in regular houses. Most of them have moved their quarters to trenches. All manoeuvring of their troops is done under cover of the night. They sleep during the daytime.

"Oh yes, the rebels have plenty of anti-aircraft guns, some shooting as high as 8,000 feet," said General Chang, in reply to a question put to him. "But, owing to the skilled manoeuvring of our pilots, they have not succeeded in hitting one of our planes yet!"

"Big Sword Corps."

General Chang took from his room a crude and sadly worn-out sword and declared that it was one of his war trophies. He explained that it was a sample of the "big swords" that Feng Xu Hsiang had been using owing to the lack of ammunition supply. The "Big Sword Corps" would usually steal toward the Government lines at night, crawling on all fours among the wheat fields, till they came within several hundred yards. Then they would suddenly rush over and strike with their swords with a blind ferocity among the Government soldiers whose guns and long bayonets could do nothing. "Fortunately, we are now prepared for these attacks," he said. "In face of our heavy shelling, these 'big swords' can never reach our line any more."

General Chang deplores the continual civil warfare in China. "It is unbelievable," he said, "but I was only at this job for 10 days after my inauguration last August, when I had to go to the front, and I have been at it ever since. Aviation in China has been given no chance to develop. If only we could have peace!" he sighed in conclusion.

MARKET REPORTS.

SILK AND COTTON.

The following reports have been issued by Messrs. Hornby, Hemel-ryk & Co. of Liverpool, Manchester and London:—

Raw Silk.

June 16.—The tendency has been irregular but downward most of the fortnight under review. Latterly, however, there has been some reaction from the lowest, and, on balance, values are about 17 to 27 points lower.

The American statistics for May compare as follows:—

	May 1930	April 1930	May 1929
Imports	32,598	37,515	49,584
Stocks	35,477	32,704	39,688
Consumption	40,823	41,584	49,121
In transit	7,700	8,000	28,000

The latest Japanese statistics also compare as follows:—

May 1 to 15:—Shipments to U.S.A., 8,065; Arrivals from interior, 23,041; Into sight, 25,166; Port stocks, 112,000.

May 16 to 31:—Shipments to U.S.A., 7,696; Arrivals from interior, 23,158; Into sight, 24,713; Port stocks, 129,000.

* Including Silk held in custody under Warehouse agreement.

Japan has decided to remove all restrictions, and an attempt is to be made to absorb by domestic consumption half of the accumulated stocks.

The first Japanese crop promises to show a slight increase, and measures will have to be taken to curtail the second crop. Favourable reports are also to hand regarding the European and near East crops.

The reaction from the low level recorded a few days ago is believed to be purely technical. Offerings are, however, scarcer, especially of near deliveries, and manufacturers appear interested in buying distant deliveries to cover their future requirements.

Close New York, Saturday, July 13, 1930, September $3.25, November $3.25, and December $3.25.

American Cotton.

June 17.—The market has been very weak during the period under review, and, on balance, values are about 75 points lower.

Not the slightest attention has been paid to the fact that nights are too cool in Texas and that the plant is only making fair progress there, nor has the slightest attention been paid to a pronouncement by the Chairman of the Farm Board that the Stabilisation Corporation may take up between 2,000,000 and 3,500,000 bales of the 1929 crop, nor to reports of unwanted rains in Oklahoma.

As a matter of fact, the market has been influenced and discouraged far more by the poor state of trade, not only in this country and in America, but also on the Continent and in Japan, by the weakness of the stock markets in America, and by the drop in Wheat prices. The increase in the Tariff in America, which seems to be unpopular with everybody except the politicians, has also been a contributory factor.

Farmers in the U.S.A. will now perhaps realize that they are going to get a very poor price for their crop; in fact, we should not be surprised to find that some of the Western selling reported from New York has been for account of farmers, who, presumably, have been selling futures against their prospective crop. So much for the farmers' trust in their Government!

The White-tide holidays in Manchester removed a factor which might have imparted some steadiness to our market. The boycott in India continues severe, but, from the Calcutta side, we hear of a slight lifting of the embargo. Still, the situation looks very pessimistic for the moment, and it is hard to see a ray of light.

The Census Bureau reports that U.S.A. mills consumed only 474,060 bales in May, against 535,000 bales in April and 668,000 bales in May last year.

The Textile Institute cloth figures for May denote no improvement in the American textile situation. Sales are given as 66.9 per cent. of production, and unfilled orders are reported to show a decrease of 23.9 per cent. compared with the previous month.

The New York Cotton Exchange Service has revised its estimate of the world consumption of American cotton this season, and now mentions a figure of 13,400,000 bales, which means a carryover of 5,800,000 bales.

As the growing crop runs the risk of some disaster, or, at any rate, as less favourable crop accounts are possible from one day to another, it would seem risky to be short of the market, especially at 6 1/2 d. a pound.

We can only repeat that given bad crop news or a revival of trade, a very different picture will be apparent. Until then, however, nothing seems able to stem the decline.

Empire Cotton.

Following a conference between the East Indian Cotton Association, Bombay, and other Bombay cotton interests, the Board decided to fix minimum prices of hedge contracts as follows:—

Old Crop:—July Bengal Rs. 173, July-August Broach Rs. 240, July Coimra Rs. 197.

New Crop:—December-January Bengal Rs. 165, April-May Broach Rs. 250, December-January Coimra Rs. 207.

The Board prohibits trading in hedge contracts for old crops except for liquidation.

The advisability of fixing minimum prices is very doubtful. As prices for American cotton have declined since the prices were established in Bombay, buyers are unwilling to pay these prices; consequently longs are having the greatest difficulty in getting out of their contracts.

Egyptian Cotton.

Values in the Liverpool market have declined in the period under review on long liquidation and on some Alexandria short selling in sympathy with the decline in the American and Alexandria markets, and values are now at the lowest for the season.

The Alexandria market is waiting for a decision from the Government regarding the disposal of the large Government stocks and also for a declaration of its future policy. The Egyptian Parliament is to debate the cotton situation this week.

Up to the 8th instant, the Government's purchases amounted to 1,183,550 cantars of Sakel and 1,388,250 cantars of Ashmouni.

Recently a number of growers and merchants met under the presidency of the Egyptian Minister of Finance. The consensus of opinion was rather opposed to Government intervention in new crop deliveries and was also opposed to any acreage restrictions during the coming seasons, as it is felt that acreage restrictions would only favour other producers, especially the Sudan.

More Zagora, Maaras and Nahda cotton has been planted this year at the expense of Sakel descriptions, and we hear from one quarter that the crop may reach nearly 10 million cantars if crop conditions remain favourable. This enormous estimate takes into account that other growths, planted in lieu of Sakel, give a bigger yield, and that there is likely to be an increase in acreage of about 10 per cent.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

TRADERS IN BEARISH MOOD.

DECLINE OF AVERAGES ON THE DAY.

[UNITED PRESS.]

New York, July 7.—Traders on the New York Stock Exchange returned to the market in a bearish mood to-day after the three-day holiday suspension, says the daily review of the Dow Jones Financial News Agency.

Under selling pressure, the markets leaders declined from one to five points in all groups.

Selling orders had accumulated over the holidays, and early in the session to-day the market was very active. Later the volume of trading declined, so that the total turnover for the day reached the not particularly impressive total of 1,480,940 shares.

Call Money Up.

Call money went up a full point to 3 per cent. to-day. This reflected a reduction of the supply of money, owing to heavy withdrawals from the market.

All the Dow Jones averages declined for to-day's trading, due in large part to the post-holiday selling orders. U.S. Steel was down 3 1/2 to 134 1/2 at the close, and the Dow Jones average for 30 industrials was off 4.13 to 212.33.

Bethlehem was off 1 1/2 to 78 1/2, Westinghouse was off four points to 130, General Electric was off 1 1/2 to 63 1/2, Eastman Kodak was off 1/2 to 189 1/2, American Rolling Mill showed one of the rare rises by closing up 1/2 to 49 1/2; American Can was off 3/4 to 114 and Du Pont was off three points to 97 1/2.

Among the motor issues, General Motors was off 1/2 to 35 1/2; Chrysler was off half a point to 26 1/2; Mack Trucks was down 1/2 to 50 1/2; and Packard was down half a point to close at 13.

Copper Issues Weak.

Coppers continued weak, with Anaconda closing off a point to 49 as compared with the last year's low of 67. Kennecott closed off an eighth to 38. Calumet & Hecla was off 1/2 to 14. Nevada Consolidated was off a quarter to 16 1/2.

The Dow Jones average for 20 rails, was off 1/2 to 127.53. New York Central was off 1/2 to 156 1/2; Pennsylvania was off 1/2 to 156 1/2; Erie was off 3/4 to 33 1/2; Canadian Pacific was down a point to 183 1/2; Rock Island held at 93; Southern Pacific was down 1/2 to 114; Northern Pacific was down a half to 79 and Union Pacific was off a point to 206.

Utilities Lower.

Utilities likewise declined, the Dow Jones average for 20 issues being off 1.78 to 79.07. Radio Corp. was off 1 1/2 to 33 1/2; American Tel. and Tel. was down 1/2 to 203 1/2; International Tel. and Tel. gained an eighth to close at 43 1/2; American and Foreign Power was off 1/2 to 60 1/2; Columbia Gas was off 1/2 to 60 1/2; Consolidated Gas was off 1/2 to 100; Southern California Edison held at 86 and Public Service of N. J. was off 1/2 to 80. On the curb, Electric Bond and Share was off 3/4 to 74.

Among other leading issues, Warner Bros. Pictures was off 1 1/2 to 40 1/2; U.S. Rubber was down half a point to 21; Corn Products was off 1/2 to 89; Curtiss Wright common lost an eighth to close at 7 1/2; Fox Film "A" was off 7/8 to 39 1/2; and International Combustion Eng. was off an eighth to 3 1/2.

Money and Markets

GOSSIP FROM THE SHARE-MARKET.

NO IMPROVEMENT IN RATES BUT MARKET IS QUITE ACTIVE.

FREE ADVICE FOR INVESTORS.

Gossip often moves the market, but no investor should either buy or sell on market gossip only.

A fair volume of business was transacted during the past week, although rates did not show any appreciable improvement. The general feeling is that no improvement is to be anticipated for some time to come, but it would be a fallacy to think that because rates are not likely to improve very soon that cheap shares will be dumped in the market. In fact, there are quite a number of people who consider the present an opportune time to come in to buy, and this is one of the reasons why rates are maintained. The heavy July Settlement, accompanied by the easiness of the money-market, are also, in some measure, responsible for the present state of the market. I understand that the coming settlement is quite heavy, and possibly there may be some reaction in the market next week, when the work of "covering" commences.

Enquiries for the moment appear to be mostly in low-valued shares like Providents, Underwriters, Hotels, Ropes, and one or two others. There are always buyers in the market for these shares, and if there should be any improvement, I think one of these four stocks will be the first to move.

The news from Shanghai during the week was discouraging, and Ewos were reported to have dropped to Tis. 11. I understand that even at this figure there were quite a number of sellers, and after many parcels had been taken off the market, the rate firmed up to Tis. 11.30, with sellers predominating. This is not a nice state of affairs, especially for holders of Ewos.

BANKS—At rates varying from $1.510 to $1.515, shares changed hands during the week, and at the close there were buyers in the market at the former figure.

UNION INSURANCE—Several big parcels of shares were handled during the week between $440 to $446, and the market closed with buyers in evidence.

CHINA UNDERWRITERS—There was a slight easing-off last week, and shares were sold at $2.60 to $2.70. They were slightly stronger at the close.

CANTON INSURANCE and HONG KONG FIRES—Both these stocks are wanted at $50.

DOUGLASES—There was no demand whatever. The quotation is at $24.50, and I think shares can be had at well under this figure.

STEAMBOATS—Shares are offering in the market at $24, but even at this figure buyers do not seem to be interested.

STAR FERRIES—These shares quietened down somewhat. Business was done during the week at $33.

HONG KONG & KOWLOON WHARVES—There were sellers at the close at $170, but during the week deals at $168 and $169 were negotiated. The market is a shade easier in this stock.

HONG KONG & WHAMPOA DOCKS—Shares are offering at $33, but there are no buyers anywhere. A much lower figure might result in a deal.

HOTELS—There was a surprising drop during the week, shares touching $11 at one time, but they immediately recovered and on Saturday there were buyers at $11.60 and sellers at $11.75. Quite a fair business was done at the intervening rates.

HONG KONG LANDS were dealt in at $33 to $33.75, and at the close buyers were still in evidence.

HUMPHREYS—There are quite a number of small buyers after this stock, but against sellers' ideas of $10 they are offering only $15.75. The quotation this week ought to give an indication as to which way the wind is blowing.

HONG KONG REALTIES—There are many shares offering at $9.75, but I have not heard of any deals last week.

CHINA LIGHTS have been the medium of some $77 big business during the week at various rates between $30.50 to $27. They were little firmer on Saturday. The new shares changed hands at $21, and buyers are offering a quarter over this rate.

CHINA PROVIDENTS—These shares were dealt in by small holders at $3.40, and there appear to be quite a number of buyers about.

ELECTRICS—There are buyers at $79, at which rate a fair number of shares had been sold during the week.

HONG KONG TRAMS have buyers at $30 and sellers at $30.20.

CEMENTS—Small lots were handled at $19 to $19.10. They appear to be slightly easier. Old shares are wanted at $13.

DAIRY FARMS—There are buyers at $24.50 and sellers at $25.

HONG KONG ROPES were done at $10.90 and there are further inquiries at this figure.

HONG KONG AMUSEMENTS—Presumably owing to competition in this field, shareholders are selling at $23, but there are no buyers at this figure.

REPLIES TO READERS.

Every week in this column "Kufan" replies to correspondents who may have questions to put regarding the prospects of any stock quoted in Hong Kong, Shanghai or Singapore. Questions regarding principles, practice, and custom can also be dealt with.

Correspondents are asked to fill up the coupon appearing elsewhere and address their queries to "Kufan," care of the Editor of this paper, and to give their names and address. It is desirable that a nom de plume be also included, in order that readers can readily identify the answers intended for them.

Every effort will be made to give as full and detailed a reply as possible, but no responsibility whatever is admitted by the writer in so doing.

Those who have written for information last week will find answers to their queries below:

C.F.R.—The four stocks you mention in No. 1 are all sound. Lands and Electrics are perhaps a shade better as an investment. As regards your second question, my advice is, keep.

INTERESTED.—Wait until after the July Settlement. I cannot say if the price will come down to the figure you mention, but I am inclined to agree with you that there will be a drop. The news on this stock you will find in my introductory remarks. This rather tends to show that further falls are anticipated.

GIGA.—Keep by all means, and take up your new shares as well. I have carefully examined the position of these shares, and while there is little prospect of a dividend this year, there is equally no fear of the shares going very much lower than the present figure. In fact by August there should be an appreciable rise in this stock, as there are many inquiries in the market now.

Yat Shing, for Canton.

The s.s. Rajputana left Singapore for this port on the 13th inst., at 8 a.m., with the outward English mails, and is due here on the 17th inst., at about 7 a.m.

ACCIDENT ON U.S.S. HELENA.

MARINE FATALLY SHOT.

It is reported that whilst holding a revolver inspection on board the U.S.S. Helena at Canton on Saturday morning, Sergt. William Jay Macaulay of the U.S. Marine Corps was accidentally shot and succumbed to his injuries almost instantly.

It was determined by the Board of Inquest held the same day that the man died from an accidental wound whilst on duty. Little is known about Sergt. Macaulay in this port, but as he was a First Sergeant, it is very probable that he had a long service with the Marines. His body will be taken to Manila.

The Helena has been stationed in Canton for about three weeks, but left early for this port yesterday morning, arriving here in the afternoon.

ANOTHER NEW N.Y.K. VESSEL.

HIKAWA MARU COMPLETES MAIDEN VOYAGE.

Yet another of Nippon Yusen Kaisha's new vessels visited the port over the week-end. This is the Hikawa Maru, the first of the company's three 12,000-ton motor liners for the Seattle run; she had just completed her maiden voyage. The other two now under course of construction are the Hiye Maru and Heian Maru, and these will be ready in August and December, respectively.

The Hikawa Maru sailed from Seattle for the Far East on June 17, and left Shanghai on July 9 for this port, carrying 1,170 tons of general cargo for Hong Kong but none for through ports.

She is under the command of Capt. Akiyoshi who is a very popular master of the N.Y.K. fleet; the crew numbers 182 officers and men.
